MIJONS OF MONEY TO BE WASTED.

windom Believes That the Cur pacy Should Be Increased $50,000,000 Annually—Mr. Lester's Work.

VASHINGTON, April 17 .- [Special.]-The hip subsidy bill is next on the list. It the called up some bright morning in the rate, and rushed through, as the bill the creation of seventeen additional circuit was railroaded through last Monday. thes was railroaded through last Monday, a last was railroaded through last Monday, a last was railroaded through last Monday, a last was a las at of the way, granting two days for their gantic scheme for building up a merchant series by a system of subsidies, to continue is twenty years. In order to satisfy the misonal pride of seeing our flag floating in tegin ports, and on the high seas, and also to my their debt to certain wealthy steamship less which come down handsomely in the last ampaign, the republican leaders have solved to inaugurate a system in-being between one hundred and two madred million. No one can tell factly how much—all of which is to constite a direct charge upon a tax-ridden people. They are alroady groaning under burdens im-Gigantic corporations must receive remunera-tive rewards, whether the farmers do or not. but we must have them.

HOW THE MONEY WILL BE SPENT.

The bill proposed to pay out of the treasury The bill proposed to pay out of the treasury dirty cents per tou, cargy and tonnage, to every ressel leaded at a United States port bound for a foreign country, or leaded at a foreign port bound for the United States, for every thousand miles sailed. Of course, certain requirements as to register, class, crew, etc., we to be desired. me to be observed, in order to give the vessel the benefit of this subsidy. One of them is that the government can, in time of war, purhase the vessel at her appraised value. The case the vesser at her appraised varies. The subsidy is to run for ten years at the present me, and is then to be reduced three cents, and mn for twenty years more. The commissioner description estimates that the expenditures d this bill for the first year at three and one-half millions, and thereafter, it is designed to encourage American ip-builders and ownership the cost would ount up rapidly. At a fair average of seven illion for the twenty years, the total expense bailding up our merchant marine would ost the people, one half of whom never look on the sea during their lives, one hundred nd fifty millions.

THE INCREASE OF CURRENCY. Secretary Windom, in discussing with Judge Stewart yesterday his silver bill, and after telling him that the sub-treasury was very largely visionary, said that our currency should be increased at least fifty millions annually. He said the population of this country increases three per cent a year, while the business interest increases six per cent. There oght, he says, to be a basis between popula-on, business and currency, and he believes the country could stand an increase of $50,-00,000 annually to legitimately do its business. "We have," said Mr. Windom, "$1,400,000,-000 in circulation, and if the currency was increased in the same ratio as the population it would be $42,000,000 annually. Therefore, an increase of fifty million annually would not be an inflation. The probability is that congress will not pass a free coinage bill, but will pass ng the coining of $4,500,000 of

THEY HAVE A LITTLE LIST,

But the Republicans Pay No Attention to Washington, April 17.—Sanders and Pow er, the new Montana senators, were in their seats this morning, their desks having been placed on the republican side, since adjournment yesterday. IGNORING THE CIVIL SERVICE LAW. At 2 o'clock, the senate took up the house at resolution for the appointment of thirty medical examiners for the bureau of pensions, without reference to the civil service law.

Mr. Faulker spolse against the provision, taking these appointments from the control of the civil service. It was impossible for him, he said, to understand why such a provision was inserted in the joint resolution. Seven-teen medical examiners now in office had been appointed under the civil service system and it was proposed now to appoint thirty others without reference to that system. There was no exigency demanding it. The eligible list today contained the names of more than thirty men who had passed their examinations for medical examiners and appointments should be made from that list. He moved to strike out that provision of the joint resolution.

Mr. Cockrell called for the yeas and nays. The vote resulted, yeas 18, nays 22, not a quorum. Three republican senators—Aldrich, Hoar and Sanders—voted in the affirmative, with the democrats.

The roll was called and forty-four senatorsquorum-answered to their names.

Mr. Faulkner asked Mr. Hoar the differ ence between the two proposed amendments.

Mr. Hoar replied that his purpose was to accomplish the thing proposed by Mr. Faulkner, for whose amendment he had voted. If the bill was passed, amended as he (Mr. Hoar) proposed, it would bring distinctly to the notice of the president these particular appointments and would require from him a new exercise of discretion. It was said, on one side of the question, that thirty medical examiners were to be appointed only for brief examiners were to be appointed only for brief service—for an emergency, and that that was the reason why the general civil service rules should not apply. He was not in the least af-fected, much less convinced, by the suggestion. It was perfectly clear to him that the record of no party, no president, and, he suspected, of no senator or representative, would be found to be absolutely in accordance with the strict letter of their declarations in regard to the civil service reform.

strict letter of their declarations in regard to the civil service reform.

Mr. Plumb—I hope that the senator from Massachusetts will limit the confession to himself. [Laughter on the democratic side.]

Mr. Hoar (at Mr. Faulkner's suggestion) modified his amendment so as to make it read that "examination for the appointment of of these medical examiners shall be under regulations prescribed by the president of the United States." The amendment was agreed to—yeas, 38: nays, 8.

Without finishing the bill the senate at 5:25 adjourned till tomorrow.

THE FIRE RECORD. A Large Bakery Burned in Nashville-Other

Blazes. NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 17.—This morning about 5 o'clock, fire broke out in the bakery department of Grubb's Crackery company, on the corner of Front and Clark streets. The whole building was affame before an alarm was given. The building was falling in before the fire apparatus arrived. A narrow passage way connected the bakery with the main store-room on Market street, and acted as a five. The third and fourth floors of the storehouse were also gutted. Loss by fire and water will amount to $70,000. The fire is supposed to have caught from the boiler room. A RUSSIAN PALACE DESTROYED.

St. Petersburg, April 17.—The imperial palace at Oranienbaum, twenty miles west of this city has been destroyed by fire. Seven of the palace searvnts were burned to death.

A Cracker Factory Burned. A Cracker Factory Burned.

NASHYLLE, Tenn., April 17.—[Special.]—
The cracker department of the Grubbs' candy and cracker factory, on front street, was destroyed by fire this afternoon. They occupied two buildings, the warcroom and store fronting on Market street. The company was doing a large business. The factory was consuming regularly forty barrels of flour and fifteen barrels of sugar daily. Mr. Grubb said the stock on hand was valued at $30,000, and the machinery cost over $50,000. The building occupied by the company is owned by Mrs. S. J. Keith, who valued it at $35,000. The portion Keith, who valued it at $35,000. destroyed was valued at $12,000.

THE CURIOUS APPEAL Made by a Murderer for His Self-Pro-

The murder was so brutal that an attempt was made to lynch him. The sheriff, the governor and a military posse, however, managed to get him away from the lynchers, and he was taken to Columbia jail, which, of late, has become the refuge of all murderers threatened with lynching Transactions.

the refuge of all murderers threatened with iynching. Turner today sent the following letter to the governor:

Governor: As Richland county jail is threatened, or expected to be raided by the lynchers, and there being four prisoners in the jail from four different counties to escape the lynch law, I will beg your excellency to order me back to Spartanburg jail, with orders to the sheriff of said county to arm me, if a mob tries to raid the jail, so that I may protect my own life. Such a thing as the four counties uniting may be possible, and if I have to fight, I want to fight in my own self-defense. This jail was guarded last night, and I think the sheriff of Spartanburg can and ought to guard his jail as well as Sheriff Rowan. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

BURIAL OF RANDALL.

THE IMPOSING EXERCISES IN PHILADELPHIA.

THE LAST LOOK AT THE REMAINS.

The Long Procession to the Cemetery After the Services the Bugle Sounds "Taps."

Washington, April 117.—This morning at 8 o'clock, the ooffin enclosing the remains of Mr. Randall were borne from his house by a squad of capitol police and deposited in the lecture room of the Metropolitan Presbyterian church, which was appropriately draped. There it was visited by many of his late associates in the house, by Mr. Wanamaker, and by a large number of his friends, neighbors and admirers. About one hour afterwards, the casket was removed to the body of the church and placed upon a catafalque, strewn with flowers. Special beautiful floral decorations were placed near it, one in the shape of an obelisk, at the foot of which, imbedded in red, white and blue immortelles were the letters, "S. O. M. A.," and the figures, "38-37," and another showing an arch spanning a cross. The latter was the contribution of the Randall association, of Philadelphia. About half-past 9 o'clock carriages with the family and immediate friends reached the church, and as Mrs. Randall, leaning on the urm of her-husband's brother, two daughters (Mrs. Lancaster and Miss Susan), only son and name-sake of the dead statesman, and other relatives, many of them from Philadelphia, moved up the aisle to the seats reserved for them in the right center, they were preceded by Dr. Chester, wearing a long white scarf and reciting the opening to the burial service:

Tam the resurrection and the life." Soon afterwards, the members of the joint committee of the two houses, also wearing white scarfs entered the church and took their seats in the left center—the front row being occupied by four of Mr.Randall's oldest friends and colleagues, O'Neill, Carlisle, McKinley and colleagues, O'Neill, Carlisle, McKinley and Holman.

A little back of the joint committee sat Mr. and Mrs. Blaine, and near them the vice president and Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Harrison, escorted by Mr. Halford, the president's private secretary, and Chief Justice Fuller and daughter. Mr. Wanamaker was in another part at the church. A large number of senators and members of the house, including the speaker, and many ex-members were also present.

A deputation of about thirty uniformed mem-A deputation of about thirty uniformed members of the Grand Army of the Republic from Philedelphia was in the church, and afterwards acted as escort to the funeral procession. The great bulk of the congregation was composed of Mr. Randall's friends and neighbors who loved him and sincerely mourned his death. The hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," having been sung by the Schubert quartette, a selection from the fifteenth chapter of the First Corinthians, beginning with the verse, "But now is Christ risen from the dead," was declaimed by Mr. Milburn, who followed with a prayer in which he spoke of the coffin that contained all that was mortal of "a loyal and be prayer in which he spoke of the count that contained all that was mortal of "a loyal and beloved husband, revered and tender father, stealfast friend, stainless patriot, upright statesman, an impassioned lover of his country and unweary servant of the people." He gave satesman, an impassioned lover of his country and unweary servant of the people." He gave thanks and praise "for the wealth of the spot-less name, the nobility of a simple character, a career adorned by uprightness and fidelity and fearlessness."

The hymn, "Just as I Am, Without One Plea," which was said to be Mr. Randall's fa-Plea," which was said to be Mr. Randall's favorite hymn, was sung, and then the funeral sermon was preached by Dr. Chester, as follows:
In this solemn hour—in this house of God—now gather the representatives of a great nation around the earthly remains of one of its most honored citizens. Here men of different political faiths, of various religious creeds, unite in a tribute of respect to one whom the nation delighted to honor. But it is not to his public career that our thoughts are turned in this solemn hour, for it was the wish expressed by Mr. Randall that his funeral services should be devoid of all earthly pomp; that they should be held in the sanctuary where the heart instinctively bends in reverential adoration before its God, that the chief recognition of himself should be his testimenty to the grace of Jesus Christ, as the blessed Savior. Expressions of such a desire afford one sanctuary where the neart instinctively leads in reverential adoration before its God, that the chief recognition of himself should be his testiment to the grace of Jesus Christ, as the blessed Savior. Expressions of such a desire afford one of the best eulogies on his character. It reveals the honest simplicity of his nature. It fitly crowns the life of service to man by death of testimony to the grace of God.

To the great men gathered here today comes that voice whose utterances carried such weight in our legislative halls, the magic of whose influence was felt by the whole nation, and it it speaks, not of itself, but of the grace and comfort which comes to the soul through the crucified one of Calvary. He, though dead, yet speaketh, reminds us of faithful saying and-worthy of all acceptation by the greatest ruler and humblest subject, by the most cultured intellect and humblest minds, the saying worthy of all acceptation that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. It was the appreciation of this simple yet grand proposition which gave Mr. Randall such comfort when he faced that most trying ordeal—the passage of the soul to the presence of its God. Those who knew him intumately recognized the fact that long before his last sickness his mind had turned to serious reflection. Reared in youth under the influence of the gospel; coming from a pious ancestry, he grew up with respect for religion, which instilled itself in his attendance on church, in his conscientious observance of the Sabbath, in his fidelity to his domestic ties, in his interest in ail Christian charities. However men might differ from him in opinions, all recognized the rugged honesty of his character; all knew that his hands could never be sullied by bribes or his opinions swerved by favor. Like all other men he had his temptations, but long before his death he had completely conquered every unlawfuljappetite, yet, with all this morality offlife, Mr. Randall realized that he needed that preparation of the heart which cold only come tized and partook of the sacrement of the Lord's Supper.

Though prostrated on his couch, with that strong will which ever characterized his actions, he made the last effort of his life to rise from his couch to receive the baptismal rite. He devotedly partook of emblems of the body and blood of the Savior. The little company of his family and friends there assembled heard that voice which had often rung through legislative halls speaking in accents of the grateful love of the blessed Savior who had brought salvation to his soul. That strong, resolute man bowed as meekly as a little child to take the yoke of Christ and he whom men delighted to honor confessed himself to be a sinner saved by grace. Truly, in his case, the promise was fulfilled: "Take my yoke and learn of me and ye shall find rest for your soul." In that hour a great load seemed litted off his mind. He passed through weeks of soverest bodily pain. He fought nobly, courageously, hopefully the battle with disease, yet he bore his suffering with beautiful Christian patience, the promises of God's word frequent ineditation on the grace of Christ, prayers offered at his bedside were his greatest comfort for a few days before his death. He was not able to rouse himself, owing to the peculiar nature of the disease, but at the last his mind reasserted its natural force on a Sabbath, just as morning broke; just as the bells in a neighboring church were calling its worshippers, the summons came to him to worship in the leavenly temple, to enter the Sabbath of eternal rest. It found him all prepared, for his soul was washed in that blood which cleanseth from all sin and sanctified by that spirit which can fit a child of earth for an abundant entrance into heaven. There was one there by that bedside to whom he was joined in the tenderest ties of love—a wife who had been the strength and comfort of all his manhood life; children, who so tenderly loved him, who so revered his name; who had unremittingly labored to assuage his pains of body and to comfort his s Supper.
Though prostrated on his couch, with that strong open to receive the sainted spirit of their father, must ever be intertwined with the memory of his touching utterance. For when the message of death came to summon him from care, he turned instantly to that wife, who grasped his hand in hors, and booking up in her beloved face, exclaimed, "Mother?" and then, with a heavenly smile on his face, he fell asleep in Jesus.

A great man has fallen by the hand of death. His name had been fuscribed in our country's annals and will be honored by the latest generation; but after all, the greatest homer that comes to his memory, the greatest comfort to those left behind, is the knowledge that his name is written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

A useful life, a Christian faith, a Christian's death—what higher enlogy can be pronounced on any human being?

These were the elements of Mr. Randall's greatness. May they be those of all here present, so that when death comes we may hear, as he doubtless did, the voice of the Savior saying, "Well done, good andsfaithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lorg."

The closing address was by Mr. Milburn, who recalled the time when a young man (alluding to Mr. Wanamaker) was accustomed to hold Sundiy evening service in a neighboring city, where the people were drawn to hear him, although he was not a minister by profession and was not receiving pay for his services. To those meetings sometimes came a person of a stately, noble figure, who took a seat in front and fixed his piereing, brilliant eyes on the young preacher, disconecring him so that his heart beat quicker and quicker. Three months ago, he went on say, these two men met together under circumstances widely different. One lay upon his bed, a bed of pain—pain bravely borne, quicity, nobly endured without a word of nurmur. Then the solemn service of receiving the man into the church, into the body of Jesus Christ had been conducted by the pastor and the elders of the church and the holy escraument had been administered. The words that had been spoken with fear and tremb ling them and had sprung up into the harvest of ever-lasting life. The form of him who heard them, Mr. Milburn exclaimed pointing to the coffin, is here. The soul, pointing upward, is there. The man who spoke is now in this house.

The anthem, "Still, Still With Thee," was sung, a benediction was pronounced, and the body was reverently borne from the church. The funeral procession was formed, and slowly moved down to and through the capitol grounds and by Pennsylvania avenue to the station of the Pennsylvania railroad company. A deputation from the Grand Army of the Republic acted as escort, and crowds of sym-Republic acted as escort, and crowds of sympathetic spectatore lined the route through which the dead statesman was borne on the way to his last resting place in the Philadelphia cemetery, where deceased members of his family sleep.

ARRIVAL IN PHILADELPHIA. PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—The funeral of Samuel J. Randall, second of the fathers of PHILADRIPHIA, April 17.—The Inneral of Samuel J. Randall, second of the fathers of the popular branch of the national legislative body who have been laid at rest in this commonwealth within the present calendar year, took place this afternoon and was one of the most silently impressive events witnessed in this city for many a day. There was an absence of all outward demonstration, but a look at the faces of the thousands who had gathered as witnesses of the last sad rites plainly showed that their inward feeling had suffered a severe slock. The funeral train from Washington did not reach Ridge avenue station of the Pennsylvania Railroad company's New York line until a few minutes after 3 o'clock The special train from Broad street station arrived a few minutes before, bearing a detail of reserve police who were to carry the casket from the station to the hearse, and brought many members of local, political, and social organizate as with which Mr. Randall had been identified in some way. The arrangement of the station, constituting, as it does, a viaduct, made it possible for an immense number of people to gain a view of the train, and the solid mass of humanity which presented itself proved that the privilege was freely availed of.

CROWDS AT THE STATION.

CROWDS AT THE STATION.

When the funeral train pulled up at the station, there were awaiting it, drawn up in station, there were awaiting it, drawn by in military style, large delegations from the municipal council of the Irish National league, Meade Post No. 1 Grand Army of the Republic, Samuel J. Randall association, the James Page Library association, Continental Damocratic association, Young Men's Democratic battalion and many friends of the deceased. When the funeral train arrived the cortege at once moved toward West Laurel Hill cemetery, the casket and hearse loaded with flowers.

TAKING A LAST LOOK.

Rev. Dr. Chester, of Washington, recited the burial service, and the casket was opened so that those present might be permitted to so that those present might be permitted to take a look at the departed statesman. A quartette from the Meade Post No. 1 Grand Army of the Republic sang the hymn, "Remember Now Thy Creator," which was followed with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Cook. Chaplain Render, of Meade Post No. 1, pronounced a benediction, and the quartette, by special request, sang "Nearer My God to Thee," which was rendered with beautiful effect, made still more intense, as all about the grave stood with uncovered and bowed heads.

IN THE GRAVE.

IN THE GRAYE.

As the last strains died away, Trumpeter Kern, of Meade Post No. 1, stepped up to the head of the grave, and, amidst an almost absolute silefice, sounded "taps," which pronounced a military "good night to our comrade," and the floral-laden casket was tenderly lowered in the grave.

rade," and the floral-laden casket was tenderly lowered in the grave.

The absence of any public demonstration, and the immense gathering of people of all walks of life, marks Mr. Randall's funeral as one of the notable ones in Philadelphia's history. Flags on all public and many private buildings were placed at half mast, bdt this was the only outward sign of sorrow, it appearing as though everybody was content to express their grief in silence.

NEW ORLEANS, April 17 .- A Times-Demo rat's Bayou Sara special says: Threatening londs and showers of rain has given us gloomy look all along the line, and the outook is very critical. The river continues to rise and the combined efforts of the United States, state and parochical authorities, with the aid of our distressed citizens, seems inade-quate to keep the levees above the flood, and the conditions are that the levees must give way at some points before many hours, unless we have a fall. The river at this point is now one mile and 139 feet wide.

A Sad Affair in Russia. Moscow, April 17.—A sad tragedy, M'GREGOR IS FREE.

THE JURY BRINGS IN A VERDICT OF "NOT GUILTY."

A REMARKABLE SCENE IN COURT.

Major McGregor Walks Alone from the Courthouse to His Home, Where His Family Was in Waiting.

Augusta, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—Charles E. McGregor is a free man. This morning at 9 o'clock, to the surprise of everybody, the jury suddenly agreed, and returned a verdict of not guilty.

The prisoner and all his friends had lost hope, and thought a mistrial was certain. There was not more than a dozen persons present in the courtroom this morning when Judge Lumpkin entered and took his seat on sentative of the state on hand, and neither Major McGregor nor his counsel were in the room. The judge had decided to end the thing, and turn the jury loose. Calling the court to order, he said "Mr. Sheriff, ask the jury if they have eached a verdict or are likely to agree."

There was a genuine sensation when Sheriff Shirley returned to the courtroom and said:
"Mr. Hall Baker says, may it please your honor, that if he is allowed to make a statement to the court, he thinks they may agree on a verdict."

THE JURY AGREE. A murmur of surprise was heard among those present, and every man exchanged sig-nificant glances with his neighbors. It had been claimed all along that Mr. Hall Baker was the obstinate juror, and here was a confirmation of the belief.
"What would be the nature of his statement?" was the next question.

"Let the counsel in the case be called, and the pri oner brought to the courtroom, Mr.

The crier went to the front of the court house and called loudly the names of the law-yers in the case. This was heard by every-body on the public square, and was notice that some new development was at hand. In a moment a score or two of men occupied seats in the courtroom. The fact that, when least expected, a verdict of not guilty was at hand could hardly be realized as true. There was a knock at the door of the jury room, and when it was opened the twelve men who had held it was opened the twelve men who had held the life of their fellow citizen in their hands for the past week, filed into the courtroom. There was a look of relief on the faces of some, others only showed signs of fatigue or weariness, while Mr. Hall Baker, on whom all eyes were turned, showed signs of weeping and was evidently greatly wrought up. He said he had done what he considered it is duty to do, but Major McGregor's looks overpowered his reason at last, and he had signed a verdit.

THE VERDICT RENDERED.

THE VERDICT RENDERED. The verdict was handed to Mr. Cason, who read aloud:
"We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty."

The judge ordered no demonstration of any guilty."

The judge ordered no demonstration of any kind, and the verdict was received with absolute silence. The prisoner received the verdict with composure, and maintained his remarkable self-possession, even when his friends broke down and choked up completely in congratulating him on his final deliverance from the long trial and suspense.

There were no members of Mr. McGregor's family in the courtroom, and the positive orders of the judge prevented any demonstration on the part of his 'riends. Among others who shook hands with the prisoner and congratulated him on the happy result of the trial was Judge Lumpkin. He said:

"I had to do my duty, old fellow, and I gave them the law, just as I should have had to do if it had been my own brother."

"I'm glad you did it," said McGregor, "for I wanted to be acquitted with the law fully before the jury."

Soon after the court adjourned the daughters of Major McGregor brought a beautiful basket of flowers to the judge for Mrs. Lumpkin, and he gallantly kissed the little maiden in acknowledging the pretty compliment.

was received here today of a horrible assassination at the town of Clianton. Edward N. Butler, just after noon, was going down town from dinner. When he reached a point near where the road crosses a stream, he was shot down from ambush. Behind a fence and screened by bushes the assassin stood. He had cut the bushes to open his view, and had been whit thing while he awaited the approach of his victim. Butler, who lived some hours, made a dying declaration implicating a young man of desperate character. Diligent search has been made for the latter, but without avail. Butler was forty-six years of age, and leaves a wife and nine children. The murder was committed in a quarter of a mile of the courthouse in broad day light. The distance from the assassin to his victim was only forty-five feet. Butler called for help, and seeing he was not dead, the assassin began to reload his gun, but heard the approach of Mrs. Butler and some men who were at work near by. On seeing them he fied. A person acquainted with the country can travel for miles there without leaving the woods. The assassin will surely be lynched if captured.

E. and Cappa Alpha fraternities became involved in a quarrel, and several fights occurred, for which the meetings of these three clubs were suspended by the faculty. As a pledge was submitted to each member to sign, whereby certain agreements were entered into between him and the faculty, the effect of which was to suspend the chapters of these three chapters. Mr. Ted Mell, a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, would not sign this pledge, and consequently was expelled from the college. The feeling among the Greeks, of late, has been quite friendly, and a day or two since the members of the three fratornities under the ban of the faculty's displeasure, drew up a petition to the faculty, asking them to remove the restrictions on them. The faculty considered their petition in regular meeting, and returned a favorable answer, saying that it afforded them pleasure to reinstate the young men, so that they could hold fraternity meetings. This action of the faculty meets with universal approval.

Nashville, Tenn., April 17.—[Special.]—Deputy United States Marshal T. B. Ballon returned this morning from a trip through Sumner and Macon counties. He made two arrests. The most important was that of William Hodges, a fine specimen of marheod, and a brother and partner of Wiley Hodges, who was arrested two weeks ago, while running his still in Sumner county. William Hodges was at work in a field when Mr. Ballon walked up, introduced himself and shook hands. Hodges had evidently been approached by the candidates for, with a knowing smile he inquired. "What ye runnin' fur?" Mr. Ballon replied that he intended running for president some day, but that his present business was running for moonshiners. He thereupon took Hodges in charge, and he was bound over to the coming term of court. He is an old offender.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 17.—[Special]—A suit for $10,000 damages was to-day filed by Mrs. Mary E. Slayden against Drs. W. A. Harrison and Duncan and Paul F. Eve, on account of the accidental death of her husband in March, 1889. In her bill of complaint Mrs. Slayden alleges that her husband was killed by a dose of chloroform administered by the defendants in the suit. She claims that her husband at first refused to be placed under the influence of any anasthetic, he being subject influence of any anasthetic, he being subject to heart disease, and that the medicine was administered despite his protest. Slayden had placed himself in the physicians hands and a delicate surgical operation was to be performed on him. He died from the effects of an anæsthetic before the physicians began the operation.

HOLMES'S TRIAL.

ALGOOD'S IMPATIENCE OF BUSI-

Mr. E. W. Marsh Tells of the Family Council, Where the Story of Algood's Bitter-ness Was Fully Brought Out.

ROME, April 17 .- [Special.]-The courthouse ntinues packed and interest increases with the progress of the Holmes trial.

The vigor of the prosecution seems rather to astonish the public, and the interest deepens each day. The counsel for the state are leav-ing no stone unturned and are fighting the defense steadily on the admission of testimony, and they open fire upon the witnesses of the defense wherever they think a point can be made. Hugh Parks, one of the most important witnesses, was put through the rubbers yesterday and this morning Colonel Hammond bore down hard upon Mr. Combs, the depot agent at Turin, swore that on the afternoon of his death Mr. Allgood said to him just before leaving, "Old fellow, I may have to put somebody in a coffin before I come back or I may have to come in a coffin myself."

COMES UNDER EXAMINATION. Colonel Hammond asked him if he did not the next day say in the presence of three witnesses that Mr. Allgood went to Rome on a mission of peace.

Combs said he said on that occasion that he thought Mr. Allgood came on a peace mission. "Why did you think so after hearing such a threat?" demanded Colonel Hammond Judge Branham tried to show by the witness that the second statement was made when public feeling at Turin was at fever heat, and it might have been dangerous to express any other idea, but that Mr. Allgood came to Rome on a peace mission; but the judge did not admit testimony on that line.

Mr. J. L. Aycock, of Turin, testified that he went to Mr. Allgood on the 15th or 18th of January to get employment, and while there asked him if he got his herd of Holstein cattle asked him if he got his herd of Holstein cattle in Kentucky. He said Mr. Algood replied: "No, I bought them from that damned rascal, Dr. Holmes, of Rome."

"He walked off a step or two and came back to me," said Aycock, "and said to me, 'do you know that he has been trying to out me of the factory for two years?" I told him I did not, and I remarked, 'I don't reckon he will do it.' He just remarked, 'he or I one will be dead when it is done."

MR. KING'S TESTIMONY.

When Mr. Jack King was introduced to prove Mr. Allgood's threat made on the day Holmes's farm implements were sold in December, 1887, the state objected on the ground that it was an uncommunicated threats, and was too remote from the time of the tragedy to be a part of the resgestæ.

Judge Branham argued that it was one of a chain of events, and that this uncommunicated therets was odmisselve to exprehence

Judge Maddox said the trouble was in going behind a reconciliation that had occurred between the early and the latter threats.

Judge Branham urges Seab Wright's sug-gestion that, though there had been a recongestion that, though there had been a reconciliation, Mr. Allgood had never wavered from his determination to kill Holmes if he ousted him from the presidency of the factory.

Colonel Hammond insisted that all the decisions were to the effect that an uncommunicated thereto reconcerned to be next of the Judge Maddox admitted the testimony on the ground that it corroborated communicated threats made about the same time. He said he sat up all night studying the question, and could find no decision in the Georgia reports to cover similar. decision in the Georgia reports to cover similar facts. There was no Alabama case that favored a broader view of the testimony than usual on the idea that to settle the question of who was the aggressor, an uncommunicated threat might be admitted to show the animus of the deceased.

THE INTERVIEW DESCRIBED.

Mr. King then went on with his testimony, and described, as follows, his interview with D. F. Algood in December, 1887.

"It was on the morning of the sale, about 10 o'clock. I met Mr. Algood and asked him how he was and things continued as a straightful or the sale, and the sale, and the sale, and the sale of the sale o how he was and things were getting along at the factory. He said they were getting along nicely, except that they were trying to put him out of the presidency of the fac-tory, and Dr. Holmes was at the bottom of it, trying to oust him. He said his father had left the property to him, and Dr. Holmes was an interloper, who had come into the family and was trying to put him out.
That if he did it, he would kill him. He said:
I would as soon be dead as to be out of the factory in that way, for life would not be worth living afterwards. Any way, I have got worth living afterwards. Any way, I have got enough to support my wife and my boy."

WHAT THE WITNESSES TESTIFIED TO.

A number of witnesses were examined by the defense in the morning to connect the different links in their chain of evidence. So far as they have gone they have succeeded well in establishing what they proposed at the outset.

Mr. W. T. Smith and Mr. William Galloway were introduced to give evidence corroborating the testimony of Combs, the depot agent. They swore that on the train down on the afternoon of the tragedy Mr. Galloway asked Mr. Allgood if he was going to the opera house, and he, raising his cane, said: "I am going to work this stick over a d—d ras-opera noise, and ne, raising his cane, said: "I am going to work this stick over a d—d rascal's head."

"Who has been trespassing on your rights?" said Mr. Smith, but Mr. Algood refused to tell' the name.

MR. MARSH TESTIFIES. The important testimony of the afternoon was that of Mr. E. W. Marsh, relative to what occurred at the family meeting the Sunday before the tragedy, and that of the three gentlemen who were in the carriage with Dr.

men who were in the carriage with Dr. Holmes.

Mr. Marsh testified that in December, 1889, he wrote a letter to Mr. D. F. Algood, and subsequently in January, 1890. Mr. Algood submitted to him some amendments to the by-laws of the Trion Manufacturing company. The effect of these amendments was to make the secretary responsible for any overdraft. Mr. Algood's salary was $2,000 a overdraft. Mr. Algood's salary was $2,000 a year, and he owned $25,000 of stock, worth 150. That made his stock worth about $35,500, 150. That made his stock worth about $35,500, and his account at the factory was overdrawn $48,000. This Mr. Marsh doubted Mr. Algood's ability to pay without sacrificing his real estate. Mrs. Holmes, who owned $14,000 to $15,000 of the stock, had discussed the affairs of the factory with Mr. Marsh in Dr. Holmes's presence several times. He did not remember that Dr. Holmes had said-averthing obert.

stimes. He did not remember that Dr. Holmes had said anything about Mr. Algood's management, but Mrs. Holmes had said she did not like to lose her estate. Her stock had never been voted against D. F. Algood that Mr. Marsh knew of. Mr. Marsh suggested to Mr. Algood that his three brothers-in-law be made directors, and he said he would never have anything to do with it.

The meeting at which the by-laws of Trion factory were amended was on the 15th or 16th of January. D.F. Algood offered themshimself, They made vold any contract not countersigned by the secretary and treasurer. Mr. Marsh testified that Mr. Algood was a hightoned, honorable man, as honorable as any man. He also said Mr. Algood was elected president of the factory when his father resigned during his last filness, and it was done at Dr. Holmes's suggestion. He and Dr. Holmes were very warm friends then, and the doctor attended Judge A. P. Algood in his last illness, In regard to the meeting on the Sunday before the tragedy, Mr. Marsh said Mrs. A. P. Algood, Miss Maud and Mr. Steele came down from the factory that day, and he came up from Atlanta. They all met about moon in Dr. Holmes's office, with the doctor and his wife. Dr. Holmes had telegraphed dector said that when he was at Trion the day before, D. F. Algood had abused him very badly and threatened his life. He said that on account of these threats, life had become intolerable. He did not want to be killed. He was willing to sell out and go to California or anywhere, if the family thought best. Mr. Steele suggested that Mr. Algood's sisters join in a letter appealing to him to settle the difficulty pessosably, and that Mr. Algood's sisters join in a letter appealing to him to settle the difficulty pessosably, and that Mr. Marsh join in the letter. Mr. Marsh said he would write a personal letter to DeForest. Mr. Steele formulated the letter, but afterwards concluded that it would be better for Mr. Algood's mother and sisters to go to Trion and make a personal appeal to him. This was determined upon, so the letter was never sent.

Meanwhile, D. F. Algood, who had come down on the same train that Sunday, was waiting at the corner of the hardware store near the hotel. Dr. Holmes's carriage driver, Sam Black, said he had been set to watch Mr. Algood that day, and stayed there at the

DR. HOLMES'S COMPANIONS TESTIFY.

Mr. Matleck and Mr. McKeldon, who went hunting with Dr. Holmes on the fatal 20th of January, testified substantially the same facts. Mr. McKeldon was with Dr. Holmes inside the carriage. Dr. Holmes was on his left, the side which was next the office. When the carriage stopped Mr. Matlock was on the seat with the driver, Mr. Caleb Dempsey. They testified that when the carriage came down Broad street to the Masonic temple, Dr. Holmes instructed the driver to turn out and go by the Baptist church down East First street. Mr. McKeldon, who was inside testified that Dr. Holmes said he did this to avoid meeting Mr. Algood. When they got testified that Dr. Holmes said he did this to avoid meeting Mr. Algood. When they got to the corner at the office, these witnesses say Mr. Algood turned on the door sill, and put his hand to his right hip. Mr. Dempsey says he could see the butt of the pistol shining. Just then the first shot came out of the carriage from Dr. Holmes. Mr. Matlock says Mr. Algood half dropped, perhaps his feet were bent under him; perhaps he dropped on his knee. He said: "Oh, doctor! Oh, Dr. Holmes," and was working his hand up and down, trying to get out his pistol.

Mr. Matlock says his eyes were blinded by his hand up and down, trying to get out his pistol.

Mr. Matlock says his eyes were blinded by the first shot, and while he rubbed his hand across them, the second occurred, and he jumped down and raised Mr. Algood's head.

Mr. McKeldon jumped out of the carriage on the street side, at the first shot, and went toward the horse's head. The second shot was fired before he got round, and Mr. Matlock had hold of Mr. Algood. Mr. Dempsey says that when he first saw Mr. Algood that he had his hand on his pistol. He cried, "Hello, don't do that," as he thought he might get him when the first shot was fired, and D. F. sank down off the sidewalk. He (Dempsey) cried, "Oh, Lordy! look at that." The only thing that came from Algood was, "Oh, doctor! Oh, Dr. Holmes!"

Matlock and McKeldon agree pretty closely on what Dr. Holmes said when he stepped out of the carriage. They say he said: "Send for the sheriff; I want to surrender. I had to do it, but he has hounded me down for three years. It was his life or my life; a question whether his wife and child should be left a widow and orphan, or my wife and child should be left a widow and orphan, or my wife and child should be left a widow and orphan,"

This was the most important testimony of the day. There was an immense mass of it, with much relating to family business that did not seem relevant to the non-professional minds. To all this an eager crowd listened with mouths agape, feeding their curiosity on the husks of family bitterness.

Consent to the Sale of the Appleton Church House Property?

Macon, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—On the day that the Right Rev. John W. Beckwith was consecrated bishop of Georgia, William H. Appleton, of New York, handed the bishop a check for a large sum of money, to buy a site and erect a building in the city of Macon for orphan children. The bishop purchased a considerable area of ground on College street, next to St. Paul's church, and built thereon the present two-story Appleton Church Home. Considerable land attaches to the home. It lies in a splendid locality.
Yesterday the bishop was in Macon to administer the holy sacrament to Sister Margaet, who is in charge of the home, and is very ill. During his stay in Macon he was ap-et, who is in charge of the home, and is very ill. During his stay in Macon he was approached by certain parties with the proposition to sell the grounds and subdivide them into building lots for residences. The present home could be torn down and the brick and lumber sold. It is estimated that the property thus sold would bring $40,000 to $50,000, Of this sum a sufficient amount could be used to build a home on a site to be bought in Vineville, or other convenient locality, and the surplus from the sale of the property could be used as an endowment fund for the home. Quite a number of Episcopalians have expressed themselves in favor of the scheme. Bishop Beckwith, it is reported, said he would take the matter under advisement and consideration.

General Gossip.

Macon, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—The well-known car inspector, Mr. W. V. Davis, is quite sick at his residence on Second street.

Several northern parties are here trying to interest Macon people in the erection of a large shoe factory. It is very probable that a wealthy and well known firm will be the leaders in the movement. These gentlemen have visited a number of cites in the south and prefer Macon to any they have yet visited. Such a factory in this city would be of immense importance, I and would have a large field in which to sell their products.

It is probable that Major R. F. Lawton, of this city, will leave in a few weeks for Europe. His object is to interest English capitalitis in a scheme to erect a new system of waterworks here. A large suppply of fine water has been found on his place near the city, the flow of which is said to be bold and clear. M. John Furman, the mineralogist, is in Macon today. He expects to go to Europe soon to try to secure English capitalist in the development of the tin mine in North Carolina, in which a number of Maconites are interested. A company was recently formed by Major R. F. Lawton and others to buy and work this mine, and it is probable that Major Lawton and Mr. Furman will go to Europe together. All Macon are eager for the reorganization of the old canal company on next Saturday. The capital stock is to be $220,000. It has been proposed that the company construct a canal into the city and sell factory sites along it and to use the water to generate electricity for running the factories. The canal would also be used to flush the sewers of the city, and it would thus solve this important problem, which is being so warmly discussed.

[It is but just to Mr. John T. Boifeinllet, the Macon correspondent of THE CONSTITUTION to state that in a recent article on the proposed to state that in a recent article on the proposed trip of the Southern Cadets to Kansas City, a misnumbering of his pages made him say that the citizens of Macon would raise a subscription to "set up United States army officers." The latter phrase was intended to be used in an entire different connection, but a wrong numbering of the pages brought the phrases together, and thus made a statement which Mr. Boifeiullet would not entertain.]

Don't be misled by ESTIMATES! Don't gamble with Life Insurance! See that your policy is a fa business contract, which will give you value for your money. whether you live or die, whether you keep a premiums or not. If you think it wise to gamble, in hope of winning other people's money, notwithstanding you run a corresponding chance of losing your own, there are other methods more attractive than "Tontine life insurance, where you won't have to wait so long for the end of the game, and the expenses won't abs so much of the profits if you win! To such as desire insurance with the least possible outlay of cash, the Com pany offers the privilege of the 30 per cent LOAN PLAN. Under this plan, the Company agrees to accept a uniform cash premium of 70 per cent of the full rate, the remaining 30 per cent being charged against the policy as a loan to be met by dividends, or to be deducted from the face of the policy at death, if it should not be policy as a loan to be met by dividends, or to be deducted from the face of the policy at death, if it should not be policy at death, if it should not be policy as a loan to be met by dividends, or to be deducted from the face of the policy at death, if it should not be policy as a loan to be met by dividends, or to be deducted from the face of the policy at death, if it should not be policy at death and the policy at death at the policy at death and the policy at death at the policy at the policy at the policy at death at the policy at the poli

At 12 o'clock Dr. W. F. Westmoreland, Jr., the orator of the day, delivered a compre hensive and entertaining address, after which the association adjourned until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the meeting was again called to order for routine business. A paper was read by Dr. R. P. Moore, entitled "Female Treatha," a source of trouble liable to be overlooked in our gyneaecseogical investigation. This paper was discussed at length.

From 5 to 6 Dr. G. H. Neeble read a paper from subject, "Hyperæsthetic Endometritis." This was also enthusiastically talked of. From 6 to 7 Dr. Hull read a paper from the subject, "Rate Experience with Erysipelas in Eye Surgery," which was listened to very attentively by all present.

WHAT ATLANTIANS ARE DOING SOCIALLY.

A Promising Young Atlantian Weds Yesterday in New York-Brilliant Mar-riages in Macon-Social Chat.

At the church of the Holy Sepulchre, New York, there occurred yesterday at high noon, a wedding of anusual interest to Atlanta people, in the marriage of Miss Lena McDowell Anderson with Mr. James Fairlie Cooper Myers, a former Atlantian. Misslanderson is well known throughout the state, being the accomblished daughter of Captain John W. Anderson, of Savannah, now living in New York, and a descendant of one of the original settlets of Georgia. Mr. Myers is the son of Mr. M. F. Myers, and an unusually populra young man, where many friends offer him their warmest congrutuations.

cards are out for the marriage of Miss Jessica Cuyler Branham, daughter of Judge Joel Branham, of Rome, to Mr. Daniel Sidney Appleton, Jr., of New York. The ceremony will be performed at St. Luke's cathedral in Atlanta, Wednesday evening, April 30th, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Branham, since her debut, has been a great favorite in social circles. Her greatgrandfather Judge Jeremiah Cuyler, was Georgia's first judge. Her grandfather, Telleman Cuyler, was a lawyer of ability and the civil engineer that laid off the Western and Atlantic road. Her greatgrandfather, Dr. Hamilton, was a noted physician. Dr. H. V. M. Miller, Dr. Underwood, and other noted physicians studied medicine in his office. Her grandfather, in his office. Her grandfather, he late Dr. Joel Branham, and her father, Judge Joel Branham, are known throughout the state.

Mr. Appleton's family are well known in Georgia. His father will be remembered for his munificent gift to Mercer university, and to other heaterstonal institutions. He is a young man, not

gia. His father will be remembered for his muniffeent gift to Mercer university, and to other educational institutions. He is a young man, not yet thirty years of age, and blessed with nearly all this life could wish for.
Immediately after the ceremony the young couple will go to Washington and remain a few days. From here they go to New York and remain for a few days with the Appletons, at their stately old mansion, at University place. From New York they sail for Europe on the Majestic. Mr. Appleton is a member of the pub-helping firm of that name in New York.

Miss Branham's home has been in Atlanta for some time with her uncle, Captain Henry Hunter Smith, at 431 Peachtree street. The Woman's Relief corps, G. A. R., held a very enjoyable reception at the longe rooms of the Mitchell post yesterday afternoon.

A large number of the lady friends of the members of the corps attended the reception. The lodge hall and parlors were elegantly decorated in floral designs and delightful refreshments were served.

The ladies' fair is increasing in popularity, and large crowds visit the hall every night. This evening the Zouaves will give an exhibition drill which will be greatly enjoyed. One of the features of the fair is the contest between Master John Pell and Willie Pinckney. Each of the young men have many friends, and the voting is so close that it canses much excitement. Among the recent do-nations are a handsome clock, by Toney Delkin, and a card receiver, by Mrs. Schmidt. Everybody who visits the fair is cordially welcomed.

Mrs. Humphreys Castleman has been called from her home on a sad mission. She is now at the bediside of her mother, who has for the past six months been prostrated by a severe illness and has only been kept alive by the most careful nursing. Mrs. Castleman's mother is at the house of her son, flon. L. F. Gerrard, near Columbus,

The newly organized Woman's Press club of Georgia will meet at Columbus on the 30th of April, which will be opened on the evening of that day with a banquet. A number of interesting papers will be read by the officers of the club, and a successful and enjoyable meeting is anticinated.

An entertainment was given last night at the mission of the First Presbyterian church for the benefit of the organ fund, which was of unusual excellence and thoroughly enjoyed by a goodly-sized audience. CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—Dr. CRAWFOEDVILLE, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—Dr. J. C. Aslury and bride, of Greensboro, arrived here last night on the fast train, after a happy marriage in the above city. The bridal party with many friends from Crawfordville, drove out to Mr. J. W. Asbury's palatial home, in this county, where they were royally entertained by the parents of the groom. Dr. Asbury is a rising young physician of Greensboro, and wins a splendid wife in the person of Miss Mattie Kimbrough.

SPARTA, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—Sparta had a most enjoyable social event last night. Mr. Henry S. Barkuloo, of Brunswick, Ga., was united in marriage to Miss Sallie L. Smith, one of our most attractive and accomplished young ladies. Rev. W. W. Kimball, of Milledgeville, officiated, using the heartful and investigation. W. W. Kimball, of Milledgeville, officiated, using the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Lucy B, Kendrick presided at the organ, rendering the wedding march. The church decorations were caleorate and lovely. An elegant reception followed imagediately upon the ceremony, which took place at the hardsome residence of the bride's father, Mr. James Smith, and lasted until 12 o'clock. The refreshments were served to the guests at tables, and embraced everything that could tempt the palate. The bride was the recipient of many presents that were useful and beautiful. No young people could start life under happier or brighter auspices. The bride is the daughter of one of the leading builders and contractors of the state, while the groom is a sturdy, successful young business man of Brunswick, which thriving city will be their future home. The best wishes of our people go with them.

Rome, Ga., April 16.—[Special.]—The Rome Amatuer Dramatic club has tendered a benefit performance to the Grady hospital fund, and arrangements have been made for a date when they will give the comedy of "Caste" at DeGive's opera house. This will probably be during the second week in May. They have given several successful entertainments in Rome and adjoining towns this season, and now, under the direction and management of Mr. Lewis Meyerhardt, are preparing to give this popular comedy. In the assignment of characters, Miss Ella Smith takes the part of Polly, Miss Cade Sparks that of Esther, Miss Sophie Albert appears as the Marquise de St. Mam, with Messrs. M. M. Pepper as D'Alvoy, Charles Seay as Eccles, Donald Harper as Hawtree and E. G. Warner as the self-satisfied gas man Charles Seaylas Eccies, Donald Harper as mawtee and E. G. Warner as the self-satisfied gas man As other attractions, Mr. Warner will sing "Labor's Song," Miss Sparks and Mr Seay will give a character sketch, and a genuine clog dance will be introduced in the play by Miss Smith. There is considerable talent represented, and our city always appreciates their appearance.

A PATHETIC SCENE.

A Husband Wakes to Find His Wife

There was a most pathetic scene on Fowler street Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch, who live away out near the school of technology, had gone to sleep together, in the same bed with their little baby, only four months old.

During the night, Mr. Fitch awoke, and found that his wife was dead.

He was awakened by the cries of the baby, who was trying to awaken its mother.

I was a most borrowful scene, and there a no words to describe the grief of the hustend when he found that his wife was dead.

The remains were sent to the country for burial yesterday.

NEGROES IN A RIOT.

Three Passers-by Create a Disturbance Near Albany.

Albany.

Albany.

Albany.

Albany. was a regular riot among negroes at Sheriff Edwards's place, just south of Albany, this afternoon. Three drunken negroes came sauntering down the railroad, which runs through the place, and seeing three darkies peacefully plowing in the field, attacked one of them without cause, beating him unmercifully. The other negroes ran to his help, pro-cured shotguns and went to the rescue. The negroes from the adjoining farms, hearing the cries, also ran to his relief. Four started on cries, also ran to his relief. Four started on horseback. George Brown put a buggy bridle on the sheriff's racing pony, Mack Thompson, and joined in the pursuit. He shouted as he went, and the horse, thinking he was in a race, started at full speed. Away he went across the field. The negro had a gun in hand and could not manage it. The pony, having on a blind bridle, couldn't see, and dashing into a culvert broke its neck. The negroes seeing the armed pursuers after them, ran for dear life. After an exciting chase, two were run down and caught, Henry McBride and Ambrose Goff. The indignant darkeys wrappied them in plow lines, and brought them to Albany, asking that they be tried at once, though court was on the point of adjourning. The third negro they have penned up in a swamp, awaiting his exit to arrest him. The captured men hail from Ariel, and are a bad lot. The sheriff has gone to the swamp to arrest the other negro.

> THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 18, 1890.

Why Not Call It by Its Name? Our esteemed contemporary, the Sanders ville Progress, has the following:

The controversy between the Macon Telegraph and The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION resulted in the lie be ng passed, as usual. It has come to a pretty pass that gentlemen cannot engage in an argument of any kind without resorting to such un-

Why not call a spade a spade? It would have been an easy matter to have taken an indirect route to reach the point that we were after, but we are of the opinion that the best way to meet a lie is to shoot straight from the shoulder.

We do not propose to be lied about and then quietly to argue the question.

Taking in the Territories.

The republican scheme of forcing un fledged territories into the union moves the Boston Globe to remark that it is "degrading to statehood," and compromising to national dignity. For instance, Wyoming, with only 18,000 voters and a comparatively small population, will have two senators and a representative, and Idaho about the same. Our contemporary cites the fact that neither of these territories "has anything like the 152,912 inhabitants required to secure one repsesentative under the present legal appointment." But, as Nevada, with 35,000 people, has a representative, it is presumed that the territories now under consideration will get there, too.

Of course there is no national need which is supplied by the admission of these territories, and the motive of the republicans in forcing them into the union is clearly a selfish and partisan one, a big bid for votes, of which they will feel the need later on in the political season.

The waning influence of the party in states which have been always strongly republican has set its leaders to thinking and devising new schemes to sustain its failing strength; so in the guise of virtue and disinterested patriotism they are reaching out to the far corners of the country and getting what they can,

But things sometimes work contrarily. What appears to be a republican evil now may yet result in a democratic good. When a new political era dawns on the country, as it certainly will, we may put these new states to excellent democratic uses.

Trying to Degrade Silver.

Some of the eastern organs carry their op position to silver somewhat beyond the limits of prudence. Here is the Springfield Republican, for instance, throwing away its usual caution, and asking such quertions as these: "Is the republican party preparing to desert the cause of honest money? its leaders in congress venture to indorse the free coinage of seventy-five-cent

Now this is an announcement by a reputable paper that the money the people are receiving and paving out is made up of seventy-five-cent dollars. If the readers of the Republican didn't know as much about the question as the editor, or even more, they would probably be very much disturbed in their minds.

The Republican, we will state, is an honest newspaper, but it is employing the arguments of organs that are not honest. If all the people could be convinced that the silver dollar was worth only seventy-five cents. the country would be practically ruined. A tremendous panie would ensue, and while Wall street and the eastern speculators would get their pickings, in the long-run they would suffer with the great mass of the people. The editor of the Republican, while he is attempting to degrade the silver dollar, centinues to receive it for subscriptions and to pay it out in his business on a gold basis.

We should think that the monometalists would be a little more modest in their prophecies and predictions since their experience with the Bland law. Everything they said in regard to the probable results of that bill turned out to be false. They said gold would be driven out of the country and out of circulation; but there is more gold in the treasury and more in circulation than every before. They said that the silver dollar would be depreciated, and that serious financial disturbance would ensue: but the silver dollar is as good as the gold dollar, and the whole country is enjoying unexampled prosperity.

We should think that these things would put to shame the organs of Wall street. Silence is sometimes mistaken for modesty, and surely the monometalists could employ this convenient shield to cover their ignor

A Directory Wanted.

An exchange calls attention to the fact that while the interest of the entire country is centered on the mineral regions of the south, and there are daily discoveries of valuable deposits in many localities, as yet no book has been written which contains a directory of these minerals, and full information as to where they can be found, etc.

Such a book would be of great benefit to the south, of as great value to the strangers desiring to know something definite of the country which seeks to enlist their capital work of development, as the newspaper directory is to the advertiser. A number of books and pamphlets have been written on this subject, but the general complaint seems to be that they are not exhaustive, and give but a small part of the information desired.

While the people of the mineral regions have been very liberal in advertising their interests in the newspapers and have thus attracted universal attention, still it would help them to have their wares catalogued in s more permanent and ample form, which would be a "Ghide to Wealth" to parties contemplating a trip to the south with a view to engaging in our enterprises. Manufacturer's Record is of opinion that the man who compiles such a directory will make a handsome profit and considerable reputation by his work. Who will undertake it?

A Bubble Pricked.

The following statement of Messrs. George P. Rowell & Company, in a letter to THE Constitution, will explain itself: Our application to you for a circulation report ras made October 21st, 1889. Early in January, 1890, when our Georgia forms for the "Directory were sent to press, no report had been received.

This will, of course, explain the injustice done THE CONSTITUTION in the newspaper directory of Messrs. George P. Rowell & Company, just issued for the year 1890.

We promptly filled the circulation blank enclosed to us, and returned it with the sworn report of our circulation. Of course, not having received it, Messrs. Rowell & Company are not to be blamed for having misquoted us.

Had our report been received before the directory was printed, it would have shown that the daily Constitution has, by far, the largest circulation in Georgia, that the Sunday Constitution has twice the circulation of any other newspaper in Georgia, and that THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION has twelve times that of any other newspaper, daily or weekly, published not only in Georgia, but in any half dozen states around us.

So much for circulation. As to the merit of either one of its issues, daily, Sunday, or weekly, THE CONSTITUTION has nothing to say, further than that we refer the public to the columns of either of the three.

They speak for themselves.

The Exposition Fund. The third day's subscription to the exposition fund is disappointing. Instead of being the largest it is the smallest day's work, and would indicate a lack of interest in the exposition.

THE CONSTITUTION urges the citizens, and especially the business men, to respond at once and liberally to the call of the exposition directors. The exposition is the greatest advertisement Atlanta could have. It will bring-thousands of visitors here, many of whom will return and invest, and all of whom will spend money. The directors cannot bring these people to the city without the funds with which to put the exposition on its feet.

Let every business man in the city respond today and make the exposition of 1890 a cer-

Republican Recklessness.

On what proved to be his death-bed, Mr. Randall severely criticised the McKinley tariff bill. Though he was in favor of reasonable protection to American industries, his judgment could not tolerate nor his experience indorse this blundering and vicious measure. What the country demands is tariff reform, but the republicans, instead of responding to that demand, are adding to the inequalities of the tariff and increasing the taxes that are unnecessary. .

One item is enough to show the blundering and vicious intent with which they have gone about framing a new tariff bill. Their measure repeals the duty on sugar, and gives to producers a bounty which, it is estimated. will increase taxation $65,000,000 annually. Under the circumstances, this amounts to robbery of the people, pure and simple. The duty on sugar was not a protective duty, and the result of it went into the treasury and was employed to aid in carrying on the government. There is no justification whatever of the bounty, which not only adds to the taxes of the people, but abolishes the large revenue derived from the sugar duty.

This is merely a specimen of the republican tariff bill. It is another attack on the pockets of the people. It is thoroughly riddled and exposed by the minority report prepared by the democrats of the ways and means committee. This minority report has been carefully prepared and covers all the objections to the McKinley bill. In the fall elections it will serve as a formidable campaign document, and it will be effective in Democratic prospects were never brighter than they are today. The arbitrary rulings of Speaker Reed, the rapid movement in the direction of centralization, the recklessness and wastefulness with which the republicans are disposing of the people's money, the declared intention to control elections in the south-all these things are opening the eyes of the people to the fact that the party in power is a revolutionary party that must be voted out in the interests of good government.

So Runs the World Away.

The New York Herald's report of the coming marriage of Miss Winnie Davis and Mr. Alfred Wilkinson, of Syracuse, New York, may or may not be true, but i will be the talk of the continent, unless a speedy denial of the rumor reaches the

Such a marriage would excite unusual interest. It is not because the bride is fair, nor because the groom is manly that people are talking about the expected weddi The two are endowed with all the gifts and graces that a pair of lovers should have to make their romance complete, but Americans feel an interest in this young couple entirely apart from their personality. We cannot forget that Miss Davis is th "Daughter of the Confederacy," while Mr. Wilkinson is the grandson of Samuel Joseph May, the famous abolition leader who took his life in his hand to wage war against slavery at a time when his mission was most unpopular. It will set people to musing and reflecting A generation ago, a stern Puritan in the far north went to work with all his energy to bring on the death grapple with the south. He was watched by a cavalier equally stern and resolute, who fired the southern breast and bore himself as a chieftain in the frav. And now the grandson of the one and the daughter of the other are to wed! It is like a chapter in the history of the "Wars of the Roses." Of what use is it for men to hate each other, and meet in the shock of battle, and slay without quarter, when their children are going to marry and be given in marriage to each other?

Peace hath her victories, and their music sometimes rings out in a "Wedding March." It was always so. After the battle come a season of merrymaking. The oriflamme of war gives place to orange blossoms. Behind the ranks of shining steed, charging on each other are singing maidens and gallant lads whose hearts are filled with love, and whose hands will be joined at the altar. The fathers make war, but their children make love to each other, and through it all comes peace.

If the Daughter of the Confederacy and the grandson of her father's ancient foe are to be married the world will wish them all happiness. There may be more wisdom in the love that binds them than there was in the hate that kept their sires apart with the smoke of battle between them. So be it!

The surplus is now small enough to rattle around in Mr. Harrison's grandpa's hat.

THE SAVANNH TIMES thus commends Mayor

Glenn's veto of the measure allowing a woman

Glenn's veto of the measure allowing a woman to conduct a saloon:

Mayor John T. Glenn, of Atlanta, is fnot a woman's rights man. He does not believe the frailer sex should be allowed to enter bar rooms, and he has just refused a license to a woman to sell liquor. In his veto addressed to council he says: * There are other good reasons, too, which Mayor Glenn might have added. When a woman sinks she goes lower than a man. She becomes more deprayed, and the police of any city will testify that there is more disorderly conduct in and about drinking dives kept by women than around those kept by men. An American bar presided over by a woman is the resort of the most disreputable element, and more crime is concocted here than in a dozen ordinary barrooms.

The truth of the matter is, the press gen-

The truth of the matter is, the press generally has many very warm words for "our Fom," who is making a mayor of whom al Georgia is proud.

SPEAKER REED elects republican congres en now-a-days with his little gavel.

Mr. Harrison's home organ is in favor of the free coinage of silver. This fact is calculated to cause the Wall street organs to have fainting spells.

It is given out that an Italian count spanked his rich American wife because she wouldn't give him money to pay the barber. The life of a countess seems to have its drawbacks.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

No Name Magazine is authority for the statethat a prominent Boston newspaper says the ma-jority of its readers never heard of Pope, Addison, Dryden, Swift, Goldsmith and other famous poets of the last century. THE NEW YORK STAR says: The ups and downs of fortunes were well illustrated in a news item yesterday, which announced the sale of "Idle-wild," the beautiful summer home of the poet, N. P. Willis, at Cornwall, N. Y., and its conversion into a private lunatic asylum. It is not so many years ago that "Idlewild," was one of the famous laces of the land. Willis at that tin than popular, and made money rapidly. He was hospitable, and made his home the headquarters of a veritable army of bright people of all classes. So strong was his hold upon the popular heart that it was accounted a high honor to be introduced to him, and a still greater one to be invited to his home. His popularity vanished almost in a night when he was found to be involved in the Forrest divorce. The sale of his books dropped down, and publishers and editors who had competed eagerly for any work of his pen soon turned upon him a very cold shoulder. Through some freak of the public he was detested by the friends of Forrest, who believed that he had betrayed a friend and broken up a happy home, and denounced by the support ers of Mrs. Forrest, who declared that he had compromised an innocent woman, in order to free her husband from an unhappy marital relation. A calm consideration of the case today shows that Willis was not guilty on either count, but that judgment did not come in time to help him before he died. Now all the things and places that he held dear are gone, and with him his per 'Idlewild." LOVE RULES ALL.

"THE DAUGHTER OF THE CONFED-ERACY" TO WED A SCION Pioneer Abolitionist-Miss Winnie

Davis, the Favorite Child of the Late Jefferson Davis, Is Engaged.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 15 .- The Herald correspondent has verified a report of a very interesting nature, which has materialized into a fact of great significance and cannuot fail to attract the widest attention in both Europe and America. In a word, it is the crowning event of the great rebellion. It is nothing more or less than the announcement made to very in-timate friends here of the marriage of Miss Winnie Davis, the eldest daughter of Jefferson Davis, the late president of the southern confederacy, to Mr. Alfred Wilkinson, of this city, the grandson of Samuel J. May, the great bolitionist leader.

Dame rumor has for a long time past whispered of the possibility of such an event coming to pass, but it was only when Mr. Wilkinson returned from Europe a few weeks ago that the rumor began to assume tangible shape, and it was only within a day or two ago that one of Mr. May's bosom friends was apprised of the engagement.

The event is of more than ordinary significance owing to its bearing on the birth and fall of the rebellion. This marriage, when accom-plished, will unite two families who have been heretofore the most implacable political foes, and to whose efforts the fierceness and fervor of the rebellion are largely due.

The life of Miss Davis is too well known to be repeated here, but the story of Mr. Wilkinson's parentage is comparatively unknown. He is a son of John Wilkinson, a very prominent figure in local history, and the grandson of Rev. Samuel J. May. The name of the Rev. Mr. May is one of the bright gems in the abolition sky, for he was the pionoer, with Garrison, Emerson, Phillips and Longfellow, in the great work for the abolition of Not only in the United States but in Europe also, did he fight for the abolition cause. In Great Britain especially, Mr. May lectured upon slavery to large audiences. After his removal to Syracuse, Mr May continued to be very active and prominent in promoting the anti-slavery reform. He soon became known far and wide as a fearless and uncompromising abolitionist. Hundreds of men, women and children, fleeing from bondage and bound for Canada, came to him for protection and help, and they never came in vain. He assisted many to escape, mong them being the celebrated Jerry Mc Henny, whose liberation created such a sensation, the anniversary of which was cele brated for several years.

MR. MAY'S PART IN ABOLITIONISM. As the meetings of the abolitionists, shortly before the declaration of war, were violently assailed in Boston and other cities, the mayor of Syracuse earnestly requested Mr. May to prevent the holding of a meeting here lest it should provoke a riot. Twenty of the most influential gentlemen of Syracuse, nearly half of whom were his parishioners, addressed a letter to Mr. May telling him that they were creditably informed that organized and forcible efforts to prevent the holding the abolition convention would be made. Probably this was one of the severest tests to which Mr. May's loyalty to his own convic-tions was ever subjected. Before the hour appointed for the convention rioters took posses sion of the hall which Mr. May had hired fo the convention and he was roughly used, the meeting being prevented and Mr. May was burned in effigy in Hanover square.

It was not long afterward that the firing apon Fort Sumter put an end to such proceedings in the free states. It is this man's grand-son who is to wed the "Daughter of the Con-

A ROMANTIC COURTSHIP. The story of the courtship is most romantic. Miss Winnie Davis came north some four years ago to visit Dr. Thomas Emory, of the firm of D. McCarthy & Co., in this city. It was her first visit to this old abolitionist stronghold, and she was consequently quite anxious to meet the society of Syracuse. At one of the receptions given her in honor, she was troduced to Mr. Alfred Wilkinson. It will be remembered that Miss Winnie received a very cool reception in one or two houses here, and ent of the "Daughter of the Confe eracy" is said to have brought her and Mr. Wilkinson in very close relatiors. He reshown her and gallantly ented the coolne championed her cause. The friendship thus ndered between them blossomed into love in due time. Miss Winnie later on went to Europe with a cousin of hers, and is still there.

Mr. Wilkinson some two months ago crossed the ocean to see Miss Davis and spent severa weeks with her sight-seeing on the continent and pressing his suit. When he returned they were betrothed.

Mr. Wilkinson is a bright and promising young lawyer here, about twenty-eight years His law partner is Mr. Albert Hoy. Their business is almost entirely confined to patent cases. Their income is quite fair, but Mr. Wilkinson is not a rich man. It is a love natch. The young man, however, moves in the very best society here and stands high in the estimation of the community.

NO DATE SET YET. The actual time for the wedding has not seen set but it is understood that the date will be in the near future. It is vaguely hinted that there is no very remote connection be tween the European trip and the wedding trousseau. Whether or not Miss Davis's friends have been apprised of the coming wedding is not known, but it is believed that some of them at least are still in blissful ignorance of the affair. Among the few friends of Mr. Wilkinson here who know that the wedding is an assured fact there is the greatest su is an assured fact there is the greatest sur-prise. That the representative children of the north and south should thus come together is to them like the reputed love of God "sur-passing all understanding."

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: There is danger of a serious injury being done to our section, in comparison with which the exclusion of cotton oil from lard, is immaterial. This danger is in the bill now before congress to tax out of existence American contracts for future delivery of cotton. Unless the restriction can be applied to the whole world the enactment of the bill now before congress will injure the south by giving to the English spinners and speculators the privillege of fixing the price of our chief crop. The interest of Great Britain is cheap raw material, and it is not likely that her influence will be exerted to enhance the price to the American cotton planter.

Contracts for future delivery are as legitimate a protection to many lines of business as life or fire insurance, and the result of congressional legislation on this purely business matter will be as harmful as other acts by that homorable bedy upon questions about which their members are not well informed. I hope your influential paper will protest against this effort to give to England a monopoly of the cotton trade by fixing the price of our most important cash crop.

How the Story Was Unraveled-The Baby Grows Up and Avenges the Death of His Father—A Remarkable Story, SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 17.-[Special.] A sensation, that reveals the tale of a horrible murder, and relates a story of deep-dyed villainy, was unearthed in this county today.

Not since the murder of Captain Dawson has South Carolina been so startled—not since the recital by McDow of his assassing that knightly editor has there been told a story of such a cruel and cowardly Prominent people are connected with its per-petration, and every other detail makes the

An aged man, surrounded by a family and riches, garnred by fair and foul means, indications of impending dissolution, and with a name already blotched beyond reparation is arrested quietly and silently for a ma committed nearly twenty-six years ago. This man so rich, so doubly prominent, is Samuel Jefferies, a resident of this county. He is a brother of one of the signers of the secession ordinance, who was a man of deep piety and profound learning. In every way he is connected with the first families of Caro He is about seventy years of age and is the richest man in this section.

AFRAID OF THE WAE.

Just about the end of the war, Samuel Jeferies killed a neighbor named Shelton Sparks.

Jefferies on account of his riches, did not go to the war, but hired a substitute. Sparks was conscript officer, and about the close of 1864 attempted to compel Jefferies to go into the army, but his cowardice was too great. The result was that Jefferies went to the woods and hid away from the conscript officer. Blood hounds were put on his track, and by some mishaphe never was apprehened. Enraged at the conduct of the conscript officer, Jefferies som sought a difficulty with him, and killed his official pursuer.

About the close of the war, when everything cial pursuer.

About the close of the war, when everything was in a condition of almost irretrievable chaos, the trial of Jefferies for this murder was held. Dverybody was interested in the case, and great indignation was expressed. Men of means who condemned this murder attempted to have justice meeted out fairly. One of these was Dr. Alexander White, an influential local physician. He denounced the murderer and chanced to obtain some damaging testimony against Jefferies. This was soon made known to Jeffries and his friends, and fell like a bomb-shell in their camp. How to suppress this damaging evidence and save Jefferies' life was the question. Various schemes were letted to no effect.

Jefferies' life was the question. Various schemes were hatched to no effect.

WHITE PUT OUT OF THE WAY.

At last it was determined to forever silence the tongue of Dr. White by death. The piot was conceived and consummated rapidly. In was conceived and consummated rapidly. In the darkness of a midsummer night in August, 1865, while rocking his motherless child to sleep in his country home, Dr. White was sheddead. That shot was fired through the door. Instantly Dr. White fell dead. The startled child was awakened by the carrel compation.

Shortly afterwards the prattling child, seeing the blood of the father flowing freely, sat down and dabbled in it. Covered with the gore of its father, the child fell asleep, and there beside its parent rested peacefully until its brother discovered the datardly deed.

The murderers of Dr. White were unknown. Suspicion pointed to Samuel Jefferies, and several others, but none were arrested and tried for the deed. Soon afterward the trial of tried for the deed. Soon afterward the trial of Jefferies for the slaying of Sparks was held. It resulted in an acquittal, despite the fact that Jefferies was unanimously condemned by the people. Since then he has prospered, and is today a very rich man. His character has never been good, and many deeds of doubtful fairness have been laid to his account. All his acts were the fruit of a mastedy cunning mind. Time and again he has been accused of murdering Dr. White, but he and his associates, who were not mixed up in the deed, often said publicity that he rarely ever slept, and frequently he saw apparations of his victims. Potrolman Thrasher and Graves were notified, and they pursued the intruder to the residence of Mr. Bony Miller at No. 71 Courtland street, where it came to bay.

The policemen fired twelve shots at the "varmint," and three of them took effect,

When dragged out it proved to be a large wild cat, beautifully spotted, and supposed to be one of the wild cats that had escaped from the zoo at Grant park.

The cat was a magnificent specimen of the genus and was full grown and spotted like a catamount.

INTERNAL REVENUE. The New Tax Year Begins on the First Day of May.

It is important for those paying internal revenue taxes to remember that the 30th of April is the end of the tax year.

Returns should be made to Collector W. H. Johnson in Atlanta, or to the deputy collecter of the division.

A certain form—known as No. 11—must be filed, first being sworn to before some officer authorized to administer an oath. If the form is not filed as required, the offender will be compelled to pay a penalty of fifty per cent of the amount of his tax, and will be liable for carrying on business without a stamp.

The former may be had upon application to the collector.

The following notice by Commissioner John W. Mason may be of value to those liable for these taxes.

Every person or firm engaged in the business of the manifacture or sale of fermented liquors, stills, distilled spirits, tobacco, sunff., cigars, or cigarettes, and oleomargerine, must each year register the name, residence, place of business, etc., with the collector of internal revenue of the district, and procure and keep conspicuously displayed in the place of business the proper special tax stamp required by law.

Persons paying a special tax for a fractional part of a year will be liable from the first day of the month in wheh they commence business to the end of the special tax year, except manufacturers of oleonargerine commencing business after July 1st, who will be liable from July 1st; and if they fail to make return to the collector or proper deputy collector of the district where located, before or during the month in which business is commenced, the commissioner of internal revenue is required by law to assess a penalty of fifty percent of the amount of special tax in addition to the tax, and the collector of internal revenue of the district must in all cases collect the same.

Whenever a firm is changed by taking in a new member, the new firm must pay another tax for the balance of the special tax year.

In case of removal from one place of business to another, the business specified in the special tax stamp shall register such removal with the collector of the district, and shall procure from him the proper indorsement on the special tax stamp showing such removal.

ON TRIAL FOR RIOT.

The Superior Court Takes Up the East Point Case Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the trial of the men indicted for whipping the East Point negroes was begun in the superior court.

After the jury had been struck the case against Mr. E. C. Bruffey was the first put on trial

When court adjourned the trial had only begun, two witnesses having testified.

A negro named Jones, one of the first to be whipped, was put on the stand. He testified that on the night charged a party of men had knocked at his door, and when he opened it they caught him, and carrying him outside gave him a severe beating.

After that he said he moved away from that part of the country, and has not lived there since. He did not recognize any of the men who did the whipping, and would not know them again if he met them. When court adjourned the trial had only

Last Wednesday Mr. Watterson delivered his lecture in Memphis, and here is what the Appeal says of it, editorially:
We hope the new Memphis theater will be crowded in every part tonight, the attraction being Mr. Henry Watterson's lecture on "Momey and Morals." Mr. Watterson is as felicitous on the platform as he is brilliant in the columns of his great newspaper, the Courier-Journal. He has the art of entertainment in the highest degree. The cloquence, the thought, the humor that mark his treatment of the theme chosen for the lecture tonight have captivated his andiences wherever he has delivered it since entering upon his present tour. The subject is pertinent to the times. The money question is the great question that now disturbs the minds of the preachers, the reditors, the politicians, and the conomists of the time. Are we too much worship of the golden calf? Why should there be conflict between labor and capital? What relation has the church to the money mart? With the whole nation engaged in the pursuit of wealth, where lies and what is the governor in the machinary of that conjulx or of the clearest of thinkers, as he is one of the most delightful of expounders, when he has such questions to consider. The mechanic and the banker, the merchant and the clerk, the preacher and the politician, the rich and the poor, will be given much to think about tonight if they shall attend Mr. Watterson's lecture. missibility of his evidence.

Last evening, just before the performance at the opera house, Mr. A. W. F. MacCollin, the leading male character in the opera company, sprained his ankle in going up the steps.

The injury was a very painful one, and at first thought to be serious.

Mr. MacCollin insisted upon taking his part—the leading character in Falka—and did so. He was compelled to use a walking cane for support, but brought it in so naturally that it was taken with the limp as a part of the make-up.

THE SCHOOL TO CLOSE. THE ATLANTA FEMALE INSTITUTE

Mrs. Ballard Wishes to Retire to Private Life and Will Lease the Building-It May Be a Hotel.

Mrs. J. W. Ballard, principal of the Atlanta Female Institute and College of Music, has decided to sever her connection with that in-When the doors of the institute close on the young ladies next commencement day in June, in all probability they will never open again The school may pass into other hands, con-tinuing in its present high standard, but the chances are that it will cease to exist when Mrs. Ballard retires at the close of the present Mrs. Ballard has under consideration severa propositions from prominent educators who desire to take up the work she has followed so ssfully in the founding and up-building of the Atlanta Female institute. She is also considering propositions from other parties who want the magnificent home of the school for a different purpose.

The institute may be converted into a hotel.

In fact, it will be if one of the propositions from those who desire to lease the school, its good will and equipment, is closed by the end

Mrs. Ballard has determined to retire from the school, but, of course, is naturally averse to allowing it to fall through entirely. She is anxious to lease it to parties whose purpose is to continue its existence, and has done her best to attain that end.

Under her accomplished management the Atlanta Female institute has become known all over the country, Last year's annual cata logue was applied for in thirty states, and the boarding pupils now attending the school represent almost all of the southern states.

Mrs. Ballard has been identified with the educational interests of Atlanta for a score of years. She, at one time, taught in the public schools, and her private school was the first for the higher education of young ladies ever established in Atlanta.

Nine years ago, a number of public-spirited citizens, recognizing her ability as an educator, and the benefit which such an enterprise as hers could be to the city, organized a stock company and built for her the present handsome and valuable home of the institute.

From that time on the school has run a useful and brilliant course, and Mrs. Ballard has bought in the stock and now owns the building and commodious grounds, the value of which runs far up into the thousands of dollars.

She has gathered around her an admirable staff of instructors in all the branches of study. From the first the school took first place in its music and art departments, as well as in the languages and classics. In fact, Mrs. Ballard was a pioneer in the cultivation of musical taste, and the Atlanta Female institute was the first school in the state to have a regularly organized art department.

Professors Barili and Sternberg were intro duced to Atlanta through Mrs. Ballard's

Most of the present teachers in the school have been connected with it for years, and many of them have already accepted other offers, and will retire from the institute along with Mrs.

Professor Sternberg, the professor of music, has accepted a call to Philadelphia. He will leave for that city when the institute passes from the control of Mrs. Ballard.

Mrs. Ballard's reason for giving up her school is that she desires to be relieved of such grave responsibility and retire to private life. She has contemplated the step for a good while, but her action was precipitated by the heavy taxes which she was required to pay. Recently she has been required to pay both state and county taxes for nine years, the law holding that the property was not exempt Mrs. Ballard states that under such a heavy burden of taxation as the value of the property entails upon hershe is not justified in continuing the school, notwithstanding the continuing the school, notwithstanding the fact that it is now in a more prosperous condition than it has ever been.

If the institute should cease to be, Atlanta will lose one of her proudest and most useful

KENTUCKY CENTRAL.

THE DEFINITE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT ITS PURCHASE

Is Concluded At the Same Meeting That Ratified the Purchase of Three Other Railway Systems.

The East Tennessee owns the Kentucky

The announcement is made authoritatively. The deal is one of great commercial importance to Atlanta, aside from the interest that attaches naturally to a transfer of so many miles of railroad.

For a long time an announcement of the purchase of the road has been expected. The East Tennessee wanted it, and the Louisville and Nashville wanted it.

The main line of the Kentucky Central is 157 miles, from Cincinnati to Livingston, with a branch road nineteen miles long to Lexington; another thirty-four miles long to Rowland, and the Maysville branch of fifty miles, making a total of 260 miles.

The lease of the Queen and Crescent gives the East Tennessee a line into Cincinnati. The purchase of the Kentucky Central practically gives it two lines between Cincinnati and Chattanoega From Livingston—the present terminus of the Kentucky Central— there is a gap to Jellico, another East Tennes-see terminus. This must be filed in to make the second through line from Cincinnati to Chattanooga. The Louisville and Nashville now owns a line between Jellico and Liv-ingston, but the lease of this is regarded as out of the question, and the East Tennessee will probably have to build their own line between these two points.

The Atlanta and Hawkinsville. HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., April 17 .- [Special.]-Hawkinsville gave today to her Atlanta visitors. The people are aroused over the proinising prospect of being linked with the cap-

Hon, E. P. Howell made a stirring speech in behalf of the Hawkinsville and Florida Southern railroad, and his effort met a hearty response. Captain R. F. Maddox stated that the Atlanta and Florida was looked upon as fixed; that 104 miles of excellent roadbed was now in operation, and paying, and now they wanted deep water connection at Hawkinsville, and the timber and melons of the wire grass to carry.

On the part of Hawkinsville, speeches were made by Hon. J. W. Jordon, Captain R. W. Anderson, Captain J. D. Stetson, J. B. Mitchell and R. G. Lewis and E. N.

A subscription book was opened for the stock and at this hour the citizens have pledged themselves to a sum almost equal to the amount asked of them by the proposition that people of Hawkinsville would raise without limit. he would subscribe half as much stock as the

The Empire and Dublin Railroad company are now extending rapidly to the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad in Houston county, with Fort Valley as its ultimate limit, The proposed line will extend southward from Hawkinsville, through Wilcox, Irwin, and Coffee counties, and on to Atlanta. It will cross the Savannah, Americus and Mont-gomery railway in the neighborhood of Rochelle or the new mammoth mill of Mr. Gress. The Atlanta visitors, Hon. E. P. Howell, Hon. R. F. Maddox, Hon. G. V. Gress and Mr. C. J. Haden, were entertained by Captain J. D. Stetson, and left by private conveyance to inspect the route of the new line. The people of Hawkinsville are very enthusiastic over the outlook, and before an other year Hawkinsville will shake hands with Atlanta and the north country.

Cincinnati, Selma and Mobile. At this same meeting, when the purchase of the Rome and Decatur, Queen and Crescent and Kentucky Central by the East Tennessee was confirmed, another road quietly passed into the possession the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia.

That is the Cincinnati, Selma and Mobile.

It is sixty-eight miles long from Selma to Akron.

The announcement is made definitely. For a long time there has been talk of extension somewhere, and now it is known definitely that the work will begin at once.

The Georgia, Carolina and Northern, ELBERTON, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—General Hoke, president of the Georgia, Carolina eral Hoke, president of the Georgia, Carolina and Northorn railroad, is in Elberton, looking after the long lines of work going on in the county, and seems well pleased with the rapid progress being made by the constructors. General Hoke says that the contracts for grading, bridging, etc., have been let out to responsible parties within five miles of Athens; also that the steel rails have been purchased, and are lying at Pittsburg ready for shipment; and that as soon as the bridge across Broad river, in: South Carolina, is completed—which will only be a few days—the track will be put down immediately to the Savannah river, and then, so soon as that bridge is completed, right on through to Athens and Atlanta.

Columbus Southern.

The Columbus Southern is now operated by the Columbus Southern Railway company.

Chief Engineer Green presented his certificate that the road was completed, and it was turned over by the Chattahoochee Brick company to the directors, who accepted it. The road is now owned and operated by the Columbus Southern Railway company. The directors elected Mr. S. F. Parrott general manager.

elected Mr. S. F. Parrott general manager.
Official notification has been given that, commencing on May 1st, there will be a mail service established from Columbus by Ochillee, Cusseta, Green Hill, Richland, Weston, Parrott, Dawson and Sasser to Albany. This will be a great convenience to the merchants, as the old service carried the mails by the above named points, and the mail was only delivered on the return trip. This service is known as a conductor's service. With a mail agent on this route the service would be much better.

Danielsville's Road.

Danielsville's Road.

Danielsville's Road.

The people of Danielsville are elated. In eighteen months, at farthest, they will be tied with the outside world by iron bars.

This railroad will not be over eight miles long, and be built upon the old money of the Augusta and Chattanooga. There will not be a stream to cross, or a cut or embankment over six feet. It is a natural road bed, graded, by the Great Architect of our universe, from Danielsville to Mr. Bob Russell's place, where it will tap the Georgia, Carolina and Northern. A charter for the road was drawn up in Athens Tuesday night, and will be at once applied for. Dr. George Daniel agrees to grade a mile of the road, that passes through his land, and enough money to get it ready for the iron and rolling stock can easily be raised when the people interested learn that it will be no water-haul. Athens is vitally interested in the building of this road, and Danielsville will subscribe liberally.

Middle Georgia and Atlantic.

wille will subscribe liberally.

Middle Georgia and Atlantic.

Colonel Machen is in Savannah now. He is quoted as saying there that the contract has been let in four sections for the first ninety miles of the Middle Georgia and Atlantic from Savannah to a point south of Swainsboro. Rights-of-way are being obtained as rapidly as possible, and as soon, as the surveying corps gets far enough out of the way of the contractors in locating the line, work will begin in Savannah, and will be pushed along the entire distance as fast as the engineers go forward.

In reply to the question how long before the work will begin there, Coionel Machen sid that it will be a matter of a few days at farthest, and possibly of only a day or two, as the contractors are already here, and only waiting for their men and equipments.

"And you expect to lay iron from the Savannah end of the line?"

"Yes; the iron has been rolled. Heretofore we have been getting it via Brunswick, but that route has been abandoned, and we have ordered the iron to come to Savannah hereafter."

"What about building the line from Macon to Savannah?" Colonel Machen was asked.

He replied that the first ninety miles of the road will answer for both of his lines, as the Macon and Savannah will connect with the Middle Georgia and Atlantic in Emanuel county, somewhere south of Swainsboro, and one track will be used from that point to Savannah. He says that rights-of-way are being secured for both lines of railway, and both will be built. Work is being pushed from Machen to Covington, which is under contract.

The many warm triends of Mr. Miles Tur-pin will be glad to welcome him back to At-lanta, where he will locate as the representa-tive of the Louisville Southern railroad. Mr. Turpin is the general freight and passenger agent of the Louisville Southern, and will make Atlanta his headquarters.

make Atlanta his headquarters.

Under One Head.

The fast schedule from Albany to Griffin, over the Columbus Southern and Georgia Midland roads, will go into effectnext Sunday. The fast train will probably leave Albany at 2 p. m. and arrive at Griffin at 8 p. m. Close connections from Florida points will be made at Albany, and the fast train will connect at Griffin for Atlanta and all points North and East. This will open up a new route from Albany to Atlanta.

The grading of the Middle Georgia and Atlantic railroad was commended in Covington on Thursday last, the 10th of April, 1850. The contractors are the Messrs. King Bros., of Indiana, who have a well equipped force, and are now moving the dirt with all possible vigor.

It is stated positively, that the Fort Payne.

are now moving the dirt with all-possible vigor.

It is stated positively that the Fort Payne and Eastern road will come to Summerville, and those acquainted with the topography of the country know that the most natural route from Summerville to Gainesville is through Snake Creek Gap, and this would bring the road directly to Calhoun. From Fort Payne to Summerville is twenty-one miles, Summerville to Calhoun twenty-three, Calhoun to Jasper thirty, and Jasper to Gainesville thirty-five miles, making the whole distance from Fort Payne to Gainesville only one hundred and nine miles.

The status of the Carnesville road is The status of the Carnesville road is given thus: The citizens of Carnesville and vicinity have subscribed the sum of $6,550, and the different alliances in the county have subscribed the sum of $425, making a total of $6,975. From the best estsmation that could be made, it is supposed that $7,000 will finish the grading, build the bridges and trestles and put the crosstles on the roadside. It may possibly take $500 or $1,000 more. The amountnecessary can be raised, but it is all that can be done. The track must be laid and the iron and rolling stock must be furnished by some railroad company, or some outsider.

Home to Die.

Home to Die.

The executive department issued a pardon yesterday to Thomas L. Stalkner, who was sentenced in 1873 to serve a life sentence for murder in the Burke superior court.

The reasons for the pardon were that Stalkner was sentenced principally on circumstantial evidence, and after his incarceration the principal witness against him acknowledged on his death-bed that his testimony was untrue and was given because of a personal hatred to the prisoner.

and was given because of a personal hatred to the prisoner.

Another reason given in the pardon was that Stalkner is now over seventy years old, and his health is so bad that the doctors say he can only live a few days longer, and it was thought best to let him die with children and grandchildren about him.

The petition for the old man's release has been on file for several years, but no action was taken until yesterday.

Sewers and Water Bonds.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: The proposition to is-sne bonds for waterworks and for the extension of of trunk sewers, is of the utmost importance to this city. There is no longer a doubt that the population will, within the near future, pass 100,000, and there is every reason to believe that within a few years it will pass 150,000. This is no idle talk. Facts justify the statements. Present indications appear to show that during Present indications appear to show that during this year from five to eight million dollars will be invested in improvements. That sum will be permanently added to the wealth of the city. During the past we have had periods of depression, just as all people have, but there has never been a day or or an hour, when Atlanta was not growing. If the past year and this have surpassed all others, it is only because we are now realizing what is due to the energy of our people and the natural advantages of the place.

A healthy spot was chosen for the site of the rity, and the wave for the first of the place.

only because we are now realizing what is due to the energy of our people and the natural advantages of the place.

A healthy spot was chosen for the site of the rity, and the work of undoing what nature did for us, has not progressed far enough, to bring the healthfulness of the city into question. We have simply reached that point. The fearful diseases that have visited many other cities have been unknown to us. No plague has been able to establish itself in Atlanta. Yellow fever brought into the city has never extended to a single case. On the rock of health the city rests, without it, this marvelous prosperity never would have existed. It has had more to do with the growth of the city than all other causes combined. The past financial policy of the city is almost as nothing compared with it. The day when this claim of ours to great healthfulness can be justiy questioned, will be a more fatal one than that on which Sherman reduced it to ashes—from his torch we did recover, from this other cause we never can.

We have here as noble a people as ever lived. We are inviting the stranger, and men and money are pouring in so that each day can claim additions to wealth and population. Obviously, the first thing to consider is the health of these people, because, if we had no higher motive, our good health rests our claim to superior advantages. It is plain common-sense that we should take no risk in the matter of health. Under the circumstances surrounding us, to knowingly put the health of the city at hazard would be madness. What, then, is our condition?

surrounding us, to knowingly put the health of the city at hazard would be madness. What, then, is our condition?

There are some facts that are admitted and known by all. It is conceded that an abundant (supply of water is a necessity. We have a supply at present. The present demand is reasonably met, but it is obvious that as the population is increasing so rapidly more water will be needed by the time it can be supplied. A necessary part of every waterworks system is the sewer. The water that is brought into the city has to be taken out again, and the sewer for taking it out is of even greater necessity than the pipe for bringing it in—the two go together—in the nature of things they are inseparable. The policy that looks to introducing water into a city and there polluting it without at the same time providing for taking it out, is no less than suicidal. Better never introduced it than to neglect it after it is introduced. That neglect means death. If the sewerage at present is insufficient and dangerous, what will it be if it should not keep pace with the growth of the city and the increased use of water? We have trunk sewers, and into them the small lateral sewers are emptied. These small sewers, extending into different localities as needed, carry the sewage of the city into the trunk sewers, so that those trunk sewers are charged with all the sewage of the city. The proposition is a just one. In common justice, what right has central property to ask that it shall be drained and protected at the expense of the more remote property? What reason is there in asking that central property shall dump and discharge what it rejects upon other people and their property? All agree that the extension of these trunk sewers is an absolute necessity. That they have to be extended no sane man doubts. The question is when shall it be done? Shall it be done now or shall we wait other people and their property? All agree that the extension of these trunk sewers is an absolute necessity. That they have to be extended no sane man doubts. The question is when shall it be done? Shall it be done now or shall we wait for years and extend them by making additions year by year? Shall we take the filth of the city at one and put it beyond the city limits, where it can do no harm, or shall we triffe with it and take it.out, step by step, polluting the earth and air as we go? Shall we promptly take steps and preserve the health of the city, or shall we triffe with this fearful enemy until sickness and death undermine our prosperity?

We have, in organizing the city government, entrusted its different departments to gentlemen who are supposed to be capable and faithful. In the nature of things we were obliged to do this. The supervision of the health department has been entrusted to gentlemen who are capable of discharging the duty. They were placed upon the board because they knew how to attend to it. They are W. S. Armstrong, James B. Baird, James F. Alexander, William M. Curtisj and John Tyler Cooper.

A better board cannot be made in this city, and discharging the duty. They were placed upon the board because they knew how to attend to it. They are W. S. Armstrong, James B. Baird, James F. Alexander, William M. Curtis] and John Tyler Cooper.

A better board cannot be made in this city, and in this matter of health, it is my privilege and my duty as a citizen, to consult them. They are our public officers worthy of public confidence, and I am willing to trust them. They say that they "do not hesitate to express the emphatic conviction that the gravity of the issues involved, justifies the extraordinary expenditure, and that the stantary welfare of the people requires the prompt issue of the bonds in order that these urgent, imperative sanitary demands may be fully met." And these gentlemen close their communication with these words: "We would entreat our fellow-citizens to awake to the magnitude of the issue, and to seize the proffered means of rescue and of safety."

More, a board of health could not say. We assume great responsibility when we lightly consider their words. The santary welfare of the people, they say, requires the issuance of the bonds, and the sanitary demands are urgent and imperative. In another place Dr. Baird has said this:

"It thus appeared that the public health imperatively demands that we shall now do what we shall be compelled to do any way within a few years. In the face of these facts there ought to be no hesitation about voting these bonds."

Thus far, I have considered this matter of the public health at its money value and merely conducing to the general prosperity of the city. There is another view that should be considered first of all. The claims of a common humanity rise above everything else. The sickness, suffering and grief out of but one to the people from a diaregard of these warnings, should be enough to determine our course. As for myself, I would vote for these bonds. It is not only to their interest to do so, but it knew that by doing so I would keep sickness, suffering and grief out of but one family, and that

The Bond Election.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 17.—Editors Constitution: There are but two more days in which persons who desire to vote in the approaching election on the question of issuing bonds by the city can register. None but those who do register will, under the law, be qualified to yote. I have heard it suggested that there may be possibly a still hunt going on by those who are in favor of, and will yote The Bond Election.

for sewer bonds. At any rate there seems to be very little interest on the surface taken in the election, and the registration is thus far remarkably small. I have heard, it is true, a general expression of belief that the sewer bonds would be defeated; but we ought not to be over confident. It will be remembered that when the subject was so much discussed, several weeks back, it was confidently urged by several persons, myself among them, that the city could, if the authorities were so determined, spend so much as one hundred thousand dollars more than had been apportioned out of the cash income of this year for building sewers, and thus do all that is proposed to be accomplished, or would be, by issuing bonds; and without hazard or injury to the credit of the city, by setting such a bad precedent. Since then the scheme of buying the old enjitol has been broached; and that found favor.

But the state demanded the cash and accordingly the cash was forthcoming. See that! I told you so! Now it would be just as easy to use that much money for sewers, as it was for the capitol or city hall, or any other purpose.

I repeat that whilst sewers are desirable, yet there is no necessity to issue bonds. There is plenty of money coming in every year, wrung from the people by the enormous taxes we pay, to build the sewers as fast as urgent necessity really requires. If done in that way they will be better and more economically built than if bonds are issued and money becomes too abundant.

I am not opposed to sewers. And I say again, with the greatest confidence, that our city will have in the future, as in the past, more good sever work and street work by paying for it as we go, doing the work economically and with fidelity, than if we inaugurate the policy of bonds and extravagance.

It will not do to stay away from the election. The only way for the friends of low taxes, and than if we inaugurate the policy of bonds and travagance.

It will not do to stay away from the election. The only way for the friends of low taxes, and opponents of debt and bonds, to make themselves felt is to register, which they must do during Friday or Saturday, and vote against the sewer bonds. If the people of Atlanta will turn out in great force and register and vote dewn these sewer bonds, it will be an emphatic declaration in favor of economy, fidelity and diligence in the finances of the city; the moral effects and beneficial inducate of which will be of incalculable value. Respectfully, George Hillyer.

value. Respectfully, GEORGE HILLYER.

Captain George B. Forbes, who has made a careful study of the sewer system and of the contemplated improvement, yesterday said:

Much has been written about the sewers of the city and the coming election for the issue of bonds to secure the needed sewerage. Our heard of health has been urging this necessity upon the city authorities for the past ten years. They are capable, conscientious men, and what they say about the needs of the city should be carefully considered. In conversation with one of the board he informs me that there are twelve thousand houses in the city, and while sewer connection with each house is compulsory, only about three thousand houses have this connection. This leaves nine thousand houses to be relieved from surface excrement by the urseemly soil carts. The cost of carrying off this deposit and the force necessary to bury it, costs the city annually as much money as the interest on the bonds necessary to give the city good sewerage, would amount to.

In this, at the end tof each year, we have necessary to bury it, costs the city annually as much money as the interest on the bonds necessary to give the city good sewerage, would amount to.

In this, at the end lof each year, we have nothing left to show for the expenditure; on the other hand, we would have the best of sewers, and at the expiration of the time for which the bonds may be issued, we would be in first-class condition, and the present generation would be free from contamination, as they need to be, and the generation following would have to pay a part of the burden.

Economy in public affairs is to be commended, but parsimony is to be deprecated. As to the debt injuring the credit of the city, is a false alarm, as by the constitution of the state we cannot place but a certain amount of debt upon the city; and this amount, if even fully covered with bonds, will find Atlanta's credit always at or above par.

We have about two hundred miles of streets, and only twenty miles of sewerage—good, bad and indifferent—and not a single sewer that does not terminate within one-fourth of a mile of the city limits, and one within a few blocks of the center of the city.

There is a threatening evil in this condition of affairs, and the people should be aroused to their condition, and if fully posted would readily vote for the bonds for this great sanitary need of the city. The sewer from Wall to Fair street is nothing more than a drain, being built of rough stone, and has a jagged, uneven surface on the inside which unavoidably catches and retains anything of a fifthy character, and this capses the foul doors that escape from the sewer eyes on the streets.

This, in a great measure, will be corrected by building good brick sewers, with smooth surfaces. If these sewers are now built it will save the city of a threatening evil and put it ten years allead in its sanitary condition. As to the question of improving the property of certain citizens, as to value, I think is no argument against it for such citizen would pay more taxes. According to the increase Excellent Insurance. All those interested in life insurance (and who is not?) should read the advertisement of Mr. Clarence Angier, state agent of the "Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company," of Newark. N. J. The card clearly shows the folly and weakness of "Tontine" life insurance, and as plainly illustrates the wisdom and strength of annual dividends.

trates the wisdom and strength of annual dividends.

The article also treats of assessment life insurance, which is proved to be temporory, uncertain and unreliable. A dangerous makeshift, which lacks the vital requisite of insurance—certainty. Mr Angier and his agents are writing a very large business for the "Mutual Benefit," and on our best and most prudent citizens, as the following short list will testify:

to buy from the manufacturer than from the jobber? This is a vital question for every retailer to consider.

We have saved our customers the jobber's prifit for the last six years. This accounts partly for the steady increase of the demand for our fine Havana cigars which equal in taste, flavor and Spanisn workmanship the best imported from Cuba; and they give entire satisfaction, for Atlanta's prominent men have been our steady customers ever since we established our factory.

We sell to the retail trade at wholesale price in quantities of one box and upward. We guarantee our goods and ship them to any place in the country. And we are willing at any time to take the goods back and refund the money if they do not turn out to be as we represent them. The buyer runs, therefore, no risk at all.

There are many smokers who pay high prices for cigars which do not satisfy their taste. Let them call at our factory and get their money's worth, of write to

GREAT DANGER.

They Should Be Avoided-A Few Points in Regard to Them.

When the Creator in His wrath (or for His glory?) saw fit to expel His first creation, His own image, from the garden of Eden, He placed on them the curse of disease and death. In after generations He visited His chosen people with many "plagues for their disobedience," but of all generations He visited His chosen people with nany "plagues for their disobedience," but of all the many "plagues for their disobedience," but of all the many lish He inflicted upon his fallen creation none are more painful, more loathsome, or more errible in its effects than fistula in ano; fearful in its ravages and dangerous to life, robbing one of all the pleasures of living. But, as in all other afflictions, He has given a remedy; science in its primitive state was unable to utilize the remedy without eausing most intense suffering, and oftentimes leaving the victim in a condition much worse than at first. It was left for the progressive physicians of the present age to offer you a pleasant cure for this most unpleasant disease. You need no longer fear the "knife," with all its pain and dangers, for it is unnecessary. I have list pain and dangers, for it is unnecessary. I have laid aside all harsh means and treat you by a rational treatment that when properly applied for a sufficient time will cure you. Have you fistula? If so, it is unnecessary to ask you if you wish to be cured of it. But do you wish to avoid the intense pain of a severe operation, or are you wedded to the old belief that you cannot be cured without the crude and painful means formerly employed? If you are, I have nothing to offer you. If you are not, I offer you the very latest that science can give you. I have cured many by this rational method, and I offer the same to you confidently, promising you satisfactory results. Many laddes are afficted with fistula. To all I say, do not let your timidity prevent you from availing yourself of this opportunity to obtain a cure. My arrangement for privacy are all you could wish. Promising to verify all my claims. Respectfully. Dr. R. G. Jackson.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Meeting Yesterday to Porfect the Programme—The Subject of Carriages Considered.

A meeting of the managers of the Memorial Day celebration was held yesterday afternoon at Judge Calhoun's office to complete the protance, concerning which the committees are somewhat exercised. One is the accommodation which will be furnished the distinguished confederate officers, and the other is the ques tion of transportation on the day of the celebration.

Some of the generals have been provided for as follows: General Joseph E. Johnson will be entertained by Colonel Livingston Mims. General E. Kirby Smith will be the guest of Major Dan Speer. General Beauregard will be the guest of Captain Sisson. General Berringer will be the guest of Dr. Craig, and General J. T. Anderson will stay with Colonel

In order that there may be no delay or con-fusion in receiving the distinguished visitors, Hon. W. A. Hemphill, chairman of the entertainment committee, has issued the fol-Any gentleman wishing to entertain the exonfederate officers, will please communicate with W. A. HEMPHILL, Chairmam Entertainment Committee. The transportation question is as important as the accommodations and Judge Calhoun requests that all persons who will lend their carriages, or will offer one or more seats to the visitors, will at once notify Mr. J. P. Brady.

A STRANGE DEATH.

Negro Porter on the State Road Dies Mysteriously. Yesterday at noon Walter Fields died under peculiar circumstances at his home on Magnolia street.

Fields was a porter employed on the Western and Atlantic road, and Wednesday night went home in apparently the best of health.

Yesterday morning his wife was alarmed at his heavy breathing, and attempted to rouse him. He awoke in a convulsion, and that was followed by another and another, and in despite of all that could be done he continued sinking until his death occurred at noon.

be done he continued sinking until his death occurred at noon.

His family and friends were very much mystified by the peculiar circumstances of his death, but were unable to get at any explanation of the trouble. uon of the trouble.

An inquest was deemed unnecessary, as his death was apparently from natural causes, nothing having been developed that would indicate foul play.

Revelations. ATHENS, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—Pink Morton's wrath is getting in shape to vent itself slightly, and when it is given vent, great itself slightly, and when it is given vent, great will be the stir among Georgia republicans. He promises to open an oderiferous little tin box of republican proceedings, that will stink louder than the expose of Mr. I. V. Maury. He is not satisfied in being turned off so abruptly, without being given any warning nor even being charged with any incompetency or the like. He will carry his case to Washington, where he says he will have a hearing upon the matter.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 17.—[Special.]— The Pavilion hotel was taken possession of by the sheriñ's deputies this afternoon, and was closed. The amount of liabilities is not closed. The amount of liabilities is not known as yet. The proprietor, E. T. Gaellard, had provided another house, and when the officers appeared with the writ of ejectment, most of the guests were transferred to the new house. Two families remained in the becond largest hotel in Charleston, and was the favorite stopping place for most of the visitors to Charleston from the interior of the state. It was opened after the war by A. S. Butterfield, after whose death it was run by his widow. She was succeeded by George T. Alford, who afterward associated E. T. Gaellard with him. Gaellard took written charge of the house about six or eight years ago. The of the house about six or eight years ago. The smash is said to be a complete one. THE NORTH CAROLINA ALLIANCES. Over Half a Million Saved in the Matter of Fertilizers Alone. RALEIGH, N. C., April 17.—[Special.]—It is learned that a number of families of negroes who recently followed in wake of the exodus to the Mississippi delta and of their own ac-cord paying their expenses going and coming, have promptly returned from the flooded and distressed districts.

It is learned from the officers of the State Farmers' alliance that there have been issued ninety-three charters to county alliances, and 207 to sub-alliances, of which latter only thirty-two have been returned. All the counties save Alleghany, Dare and New Haven, have county organizations. Wake leads in the number of sub-alliances, having fifty-seven, Chatham coming next with fifty-two. The gain in membership in the past year has been oversixteen thousand. The state business agency of the alliance is doing an immense work. It has furnished two sub-alliances this season twelve thousand tons of its special fertilizer, and its sales of other supplies, mainly provisions, average forty thousand dollars per month. The state business agent says that other effect of the sale of special brands of fertilizers made for the alliance at a special rate has resulted in a decline of prices charged for the brands and he estimates that this season alone the business agency has saved the farmers over half a million dollars in the matter of fertilizers alone. 207 to sub-alliances, of which latter only thir-

THE NEGRO CONVENTION.

The Colored Men of Virginia Meet and Pass Resolutions.

Resolutions.

RICHMOND, Va., April 17.—At the state convention of colored men in session here, the committee on resolutions reported a series of resolutions, in which they declare the defeat of the Blair bill by the senate is a blow at popular education, express disapproval of the acts of the present legislature of Virginia in their efforts to cripple the already feeble provisions in negro education in this commonwealth, as evidenced by their election to office of a superintendent of public instruction a man who has declared negro education to be a failure and who contends that the negroes, though laborers, are not the real tax payers of the committee says, "and if possible more vigorously, condemn the governor of this commonwealth, a professor in Christian faith, a pretended humanitarian, a product of the black belt, the putative friend of the negro, yet who signed a bill reducing the appropriation for the colored normal school, and also opposed a measure removing colored men as trustees of said school, though in politics they opposed a measure removing colored men as trustees of said school, though in politics they were supposed to be democrats, and in appointing in their stead men who are openly opposed to the higher education of the negro. The resolutions were adopted.

THE CONGO'S WHITE POPULATION. It Has Increased Ninefold Within the Pas

BRUSSELS, April 16.—The Congo State has just taken a census of the white population living in its territory. It finds that 450 white persons, inculding a few women, are now living in the free state. The largest white population is at Boma, fifty miles up the river, where 141 Europeans live. At Banana, the mouth of the river, there are eighty-eight whites. Matadi, the point where the Congo raftread begins, will soon be second in white population, as the railroad enterprise is beginning to take a good many white men there. aing to take a good many white men there.

Among the white residents 175 are Belgians, forty-five are English, and only eighteen, chiefly missionaries, are Americans. When Stanley, eleven years ago, began his work on the river there were only about fifty white men there, all on the lower river, while now nearly a hundred whites live at and above

The Representative of Cobb. MARIETTA, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—The many friends of Colonel R. N. Holland, of this place, are urging him to allow the use of his place, are urging him to allow the use of his name for representative in the next legislature. Colonel Holland has a splendid law practice, and is extremely reluctant to enter politics on account of the time that it will take from his practice. But his friends insist that it is this sort of a man that is wanted, and, if he allows the use of his name, he will, beyond doubt, be one of Cobb's representatives in the next house, and it certainly will be one of the few instances where the office seeks the man. Colonel Holland is one of our noblest young men—nure—nure, housest, a Christian gentle. young men—pure, honest, a Christian gentle man, and a man that will be an honor to his state as well as the county he represents.

The Candidates in Walker.

The Candidates in Walker.

LAFAYETTE, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—The political pot has commenced to boil in this district. There are several probable candidates for the senate. This is Walker county's year, and she has a number of good men who would like to represent the forty-fourth district during the next two years. Colonel R. M. W. Glenn will be a candidate. Mr. Glenn was the representative from this district in 1884. the representative from this district in 1884. It is also stated that Robert Dougherty is a candidate. There are several others would like to run but have not announced.

Dr. R. B. Headden's Engagements. Rome, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—The Ladies' Memorial association asked Dr. Headden to deliver the oration on May 10, but on account of other engagements he has declined. He or other engagements he has declined. He expects to accept invitations to lecture at the Piedmont Chautauqua this summer, to deliver the commencement sermon at Gordon Institute at Barnesville, and to aid in a protracted meeting at Gadsden this spring.

The Choir Reorganized. Rome, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—Mr. E. G. Warner having resigned as leader and organist of the choir of St. Peter's Episcopal church, it has been reorganized with Professor P. J. Fortin in charge and Miss May George as organist. Professor Fortin will also lead with his violin, and it is promised that the number of choristers will be increased.

An Odd Incident. An Odd Incident.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—An odd incident occurred in the city court yesterday. shipping. A Bitter Contest Ahead.

GRIFFIN, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]The election for county commissioners caused by the death of Marion Patrick and T. S. Brooks, will likely be a hotly contested one, as three candidates are already in the field. W. J. Duke, of Akins district; M. J. Patrick, of Griffin district, and A. W. Walker, of Cabins district one the contestant with Abous to district, are the contestants, with Athens to hear from. The election takes place May 5 Fairburn's Masonic Hall.

FAIRBURN, Ga., April 1.—[Special.]—The Masonic lodge at this place is finished, and the keys turned over to the order. The building is a very large two story, and an excellent one. The lodge is prosperous, and additions are made at almost every meeting. A chapter of Royal Arch Masons was instituted here last night.

All Quiet in Decatur.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., April 17.—[Special.]—Politics are exceedingly quiet in this county. Of course, there are many candidates waiting for somebody to say the ball is open, but so far, no one has said it, and peace reigns.

(EORGIA. FULTON COUNTY.—TO THE SU-I perior Court of said county: The petition of J. C. Kimball, B. B. Crew, J. A. Anderson, J. J. Barnes, E. M. Roberts, W. A. Gregg, H. C. Leon-ard, J. D. Procter, W. M. Scott and John E. Tyler, all of said county, shows to the court that petitioners desire to be in-corporated by faid court under a charter granting to them their associates and assigns for the term of twenty (20) years, with privilege of renewal, the powers and privileges with the liabilities and duties herein-after set out, towit:

After set out, towit:

NAME.

Petitioners desire to be chartered under the corporate name of the "Georgia Co-operative Loan Company," and that as such company they may have the right to make and use a common seal, the right to contract and be contracted with in the scope of the business to be conducted by said company as hereinafter defined, to sue and be sued, to elect officers and make by-laws, and exercise such other powers as are usual and incident to similar corporations.

CAPITAL STOCK.

to similar corporations.

CAPITAL STOCK.

Petitioners desire to use a capital stock not to exceed five million dollars to be accumulated in the manner hereinafter stated, and to have the privilege of beginning business when the sum of twenty thousand dollars is actually subscribed to the capital stock of the company.

The capital stock will be divided into shares of the maturity value of one hundred dollars each

The capital stock will be divided into shares of the maturity value of one hundred dollars each.

Not less than two (2) nor more than two hundred (200) shares shall be taken, or owned, at any time by any one stockholder of said company.

The shares shall be paid for in installment, the first ginstallment of one dollar per share to be paid at the first meeting of the stockholders, and subsequent installments of fifty (50) cents per share per month for one hundred months or until the installments paid in with interest receipts, and other earnings shall aggregate the value of one hundred dollars per share.

Petitioners dessire also the power to issue paid up stock on which interest will be paid, upon such just terms as may be fixed by the by-laws of the company. And petitioners desire the power to issue different series of the stock of such company monthly or at such longer intervals as the by-laws may provide and to fix in such by-laws the time for the maturity of each of such series.

BUSINEES.

BUSINESS.

The object of the incorporation prayed for is to establish for petitioners and their associates a suitable method of effecting small regular savings to combine such savings and to invest them so as to earn interest, by loaning them upon real estate and other security to stockholders of the company upon the terms and in the manner usually practiced by building and loan associations, the system of repayment by monthly installments covering the principal with added interest usually enforced by such associations, being the one to be employed by the company. It is proposed also, as one of the objects of this incorporation to aid its members in the erection, improvement and purchase of homes. It is also desired that the company may have power to make loans to its stockholders upon the shares of stock held by them to the amount of actual cash on maturity value of their shares upon such terms as the by-laws may prescribe. BUSINESS.

The principal office of said company shall be in the city of Atlanta, Fulton county, Ga., but peti-tioners desire to have power to establish branch offices elsewhere in Georgia, and throughout the United States in the discretion of the board of

There shall be no liability of stockholders of such company for the debts or liabilities of the company beyond the amount of the unpaid subscription of such stockholder to the capital stock of the company.

OFFICERS. OFFICERS.

The officers of the company shall be such as the by-laws prescribe and their respective duties, the bonds to be given by them, and their compensation shall be regulated by the by-laws to be adopted by such company.

The general management of the company's business shall be in the board of directors, to be seven in number, and to be chosen by the stockholders at their first meeting, and at the regular yearly stockholder's meeting thereafter.

Notice by the Mayor and General Council of the City of Atlanta of the Holding of an Election to Deter mine the Question Whether Bonds shall be Issued by said City.

Said City.

WHEREAS, THE MAYOR AND GENERAL Council of the City of Atlanta desire to issue two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) of bonds of said City, for the purpose of increasing the water supply, of said city, and desire also to issue one hundred thousand dollars ($250,000) of bonds of said City, for the purpose of journal income, for the purpose of paying the city's proportion of the expense of the construction of sewers in said city, and the assent of the qualified voters of said city being necessary thereto.

Therefore, be it ordained by the Mayor and General Council aforgsaid, that in accordance with the Constitution and Laws of said State, an election shall be held on the twenty-third (23d) day of April, 1830, to determine the question whether said water bonds and sewer bonds, or either series of said proposed bonds, shall be issued by said city, and that notice to the people (qualified voters of said city), be published in The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, the paper in which the Sheriff's advertisement of said county are published, and also in The Atlanta Evening Journal, for the space of thirty days next preceding the day of said election as provided by law, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of four per cent. (4 per cent per annum, and to run not exceeding thirty years from the date thereof, the interest to be paid semi-annually, on the first days of January and July of each kear, and the principals of said bonds to be fully paid off within thirty years from the date of issuance thereof. If the issue of said water bonds and sewer bonds, or either of such series of bonds, is voted by the requisite two-thirds of the qualified voters of said city, then, and before the proposed debt is incurred, an ordinance or ordinances shall be passed providing for the issue and sale thereof, and making provision at the same time for the assessment and collection of annual taxes sufficient in amount to pay the principal and interest of said defit within thirty years from the date of incurring said indebtednes

I certify that the foregoing preamble and ordinance were adopted by the mayor and council of the city of Atlanta on March 17, 1800, and concurred in by the aldermanne board on the same day, and approved by the mayor of said city on March 18 1800.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The stock market, while rather dull today, was strong almost all the way through, and while the movements in most of the list was confined to significant proportions, a few stocks made large advances and activity in them served to make a moderate day's business, and sugar reflucries was the feature of the forenon, and Lackawanna of the latter portion of the day, and except in a few specialties these two stocks monopolized the attention of traders and showed the only wide fluctuations. The probability of some legislation which will make silver of more consequence in the world and at the same time afford the means of increasing the amount of available funds for the purpose of NEW YORK, April 17.-The stock market, while amount of available funds for the purpose of speculation, gave the markets an impetus and with other favorable factors entirely overrode the effect of rather discouraging news from Chicago. The announcement of the intention to attempt to The announcement of the intention to attempt to use steamers of the Pacific Mail company in connection with the Northern Pacific, despite the relations existing between Pacific mail and Union Pacific, and further reduction of rates of the Missouri Pacific are regarded as evidence that the fight between Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific to be even wore hitter than at present. Pacific is to be even more bitter than at present. The contest is so demoralizing to the business in Wall street that the bulls threaten to cut away from those stocks altogether. This morning, howof discount of the bank of England to three per of discount of the bank of England to three per cent and the prevailing low rates for money in the open market there, created a more bullish feeling on stocks at London, and higher prices were made for American stocks, which gave this market quite an impetus at the start. The recommendation of the ways and means committee on the sugar tariff made programments of the principal feature at the green. sugar refineries the principal feature at the opening, and buying on the impression that new legis-lation will increase the consumption of sugar and so give employment to idle refineries, was sufficient to send certificates up nearly three per cent during the forenoon, and though dealings in them afterward slacked off materially, prices was held up to near the last figure. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. Hubbard, Fries & Co.'s Circular.

NETY VORK, April 47 — [Special] — The most prominent feature in connection with today's cotton market has been Ellison's circular, the figures of which were received by cable to us last evening. The fact that Mr. Ellison estimates that an American crop of 7,200,000 bales will be sufficient to leave the world's supply upon the 1st of October people as rather a bearish feature, and the figures have protoked much discussion, as being decidedly in contrast with the earlier estimates by the same authority. The bulls are disappointed that Mr. Ellison did not find it necessary to increase his estimate of the world's weekly consumption, and are very skeptical as to whether additional exports of 85,000 bales can be secured from America for the balance of the season. As a result of the publication of these figures the market in liverpool was 162 points lower, and prices here at the publication of these figures the market in Liverpool was 1(2) points lower, and prices here at the opening declined some 4(2) points, from which there was a reaction, the close being at the highest of the day. Some of the more prominent bulls are, however, evidently inclined to take present profits, and some large lines of cotton have today-changed hands, the near positions showing rela-tively less strength as compared with July and Amoust.

August.

The Chicago markets have been comparatively quiet. Wheat seems firmly held, and the apprehension of a squeeze on the May option is renewed. Provisions are decidedly easier, and the trading in them is very limited. Corn continues firm, and it becomes more and more evident that the shor interest in this article is enormous. steadier, with a marked falling off in exports from American ports as compared with last year, checking the rapid reduction that has been going on in

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, April 17—Wheat—Quite a large business was again transacted, and the feeling was unsettled. The course of prices was irregular and erratic. The nature of the market was due largely to local speculative influences. Outside business continues good. There was considerable interest manifested among local dealers to decipher the movement of a certain operator here. The opinion seemed to prevail that the party in question was trying to sustain the market, and get rid of som s of long wheat, and as soon as traders aght they discovered an attempt to unload the thought they discovered an attempt to unload the market quickly weakened and some rapid and sharp changes occurred. The market opened ½® %c higher and advanced %c more, then became weak and declined 1½@2c for May and June and 2c for July, rallied some and fluctuated frequently, closing about 1½c lower for May and 1c higher for rousing about 1/2 lower for may and it inginer for July than the closing figures of yesterday. The trading centered mainly in July, most of the May transactions being to offset settlements.

Corn was fairly active and a little unsettled, prices fluctuating frequently within 1/2 2/2, but the market on the whole was firmer. The bulk of the market on the whole was namer. The bulk of the trading was local, and prices were governed largely by the changes in wheat. The market opened firm at an advance of ½c over the closing prices of yesterday, and under a good demand gradually sold up ½@½c, reacted on increased offerings, rallied a little, ruled easier, closing ½@

1/4c better than yesterday.
Oats were active, stronger and higher. There was no pressure to sell and a good demand. The advance in wheat also had a good effect on values, and assisted in advancing prices %@%c. On the appreciation offerings increased, and slight recessions followed, but the market closed steady at a sions followed, but the market closed steady at a net gain of ½@½c.

Mess pork was unsettled and nervous with fre-frequent fluctuations in prices. The opening sales of July were made at 10c advance, and followed by a further improvement of 10c. Later a weaker feeling set in, offerings were larger and prices declined 60.65c. Toward the close they rallied 30@ 25c, but settled back 1½c, closing rather steady. Lard—Considerable interest was manifested. Prices were quite irregular, advancing 567½c. Prices were quite irregular, advancing 5@7\% early, then sold back 7\%@10c. Later they rallied 15@17\% e and the appreciation was moderately well supported.

Short rib sides—Quite an active business was done in ribs, but the feeling was unsettled and prices irregular. The opening sales were at 5@loc advance, but with more pressure to sell a reduction of 15c was submitted to. Later the market showed a little more strength with fair buying by local operators, and prices rallied 7%@10c, closing easy.

BANKERS AND BROKERS,

MADDOX, RUCKER & CO., BANKERS.

Having added $50.00 to our banking property, we are now arranging to move our office on the corner of our block, where we will be in a more prominent position, with better facilities, and we now propose to give more attention to the banking department of our business.

We solicit the accounts of banks, merchants and individuals, and will extend every accommodation consistent with sound banking.

Will negotiate loans on marketable securities. Allow interests on time deposits. Having repeated requests, from various sources, to buy and sell stocks and bonds, we have concluded to deal generally in miscellaneous securities.
